MT. CLEMENS GRAFT PAYOFF IS CONFESSED

EX-SHERIFF ADMITS SYNDICATE PAID HIM $15,000

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 7. (AP)—An admission by former Macomb County Sheriff Robert C. Havel that he took $15,000 from a gambling syndicate was revealed today by Judge Herman Dehnke, one-man grand juror investigating charges of laxity of law enforcement and graft in the county.

Judge Dehnke revealed the admission, which he said was made in an affidavit made a part of the court's proceedings, when he ordered today that William H. McKeighan, former Flint mayor, be bound over for trial in circuit court.

McKeighan was one of four men indicted August 2 by the Dehnke grand jury on charges of conspiring to violate Michigan gambling laws by bribing and corrupting public officials.

Two Fight Extradition

The other three indicted, alleged members of a gambling syndicate, are Danny Sullivan, Lincoln Fitzgerald and Mert Wertheimer. Sullivan and Fitzgerald, who were bound over on August 16 for trial, are fighting extradition from Nevada. Wertheimer is sought.

McKeighan surrendered several days ago to Miami Beach, Fla., police on a fugitive warrant and said he would fight extradition to Michigan. In a statement, he emphatically denied the charges and said he had never "in any way been a partner with the three men indicted with me."

Former Sheriff Havel's affidavit became a part of the court record today, together with sworn statements by six other persons which named McKeighan as the "pay off" man for the gambling syndicate.

The documents filed today with affidavits were prepared by Judge Dehnke and his staff as a substitute for an examination for McKeighan before a magistrate. As a fugitive from justice, McKeighan lost the right of cross-examining witnesses until he is tried in circuit court.

Havel, who was sheriff from Jan. 1, 1937, to Dec. 31, 1940, alleged in his affidavit that the gambling syndicate paid him $2,000 each of the seven times he ran for sheriff from 1932 through 1940 and that on one occasion he got an extra $1,000.

The affidavit by Havel said "McKeighan said that the money was being paid for the gambling

London To Brazil Plane Crashes; Only One Of 21 Survives

London, Sept. 7 (AP)—A plane enroute from London to Brazil crashed today at Bathurst (Gambia), West Africa, killing all but one person of the 21 passengers and four British crewmen aboard, British South American Airways announced.

It was the second air crash this week in which one person survived and more than 20 were killed. Twenty-one were killed and a boy of two survived a wreck in northeastern Nevada Thursday.

The lone survivor of today's crash was a Mrs. De Gattegno, who was reported seriously injured. The air line said the plane was an Avro York, the "Star Leader," which left London yesterday.

R. W. H. Acton, a brother of Lord Acton, was among those listed as killed.

Red Leanings Become Issue For Elections

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Sept. 7. (AP)—Republicans are attempting to pin a Communist label on some Democratic opponents in a crescendo of attacks indicating they hope to make this charge a major issue in the November Congressional elections.

Democrats generally are meeting this maneuver by calling the charge untrue and asserting the Republicans are appealing to prejudice.

GOP Chairman Carroll Reece and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York took the lead this week in almost simultaneous assaults on what they termed the left-wing connections of the regular Democratic party.

There was evidence that Republicans elsewhere were taking up the cry for Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told a reporter it is his judgment that the issue of American relations with Russia is beginning to loom large in the Congressional campaign in the mid-west.

On a brief visit here, Hickenlooper said he had found suspicion of Russian motives growing in Iowa and other mid-western states.

"I think the mid-western people are beginning to think that something has to be done to check the Communists," he said. "As a result they are swinging around to the idea that we ought to have a strong partner in Great Britain. I got a lot of criticism from home on my vote for the British loan but I think a great many people have changed their minds about that.

"Any party they think is tied up with the Communists isn't likely to get their votes."

In an editorial in the current issue of the Republican News, Reece quoted comments of the Russian trade union newspaper "Trud" to support his charge that there is a "sympathetic understanding between Moscow dictatorship and the PAC." Reece listed the CIO Political Action Committee as holding "seniority" in a "partnership" with the Democratic national committee.

MAID AND BABY NOT YET FOUND

Mother Tries Work To Forget Worry Over Missing Child

Kansas City, Sept. 7 (AP)—While police widened a search for three-year-old Madeline (Toby) Tobias and a newly-hired maid with whom the child disappeared last Thursday, the distraught mother plunged into work to escape some of her worries.

"Maybe if I try to do some housework it will help take my mind off my fears for Toby," Mrs. Phillip Tobias said today between calls from friends and acquaintances who expressed their sympathy.

"Everyone has been so kind," she said as she scrubbed the kitchen floor, "but I wish that instead of calling me they would pray for my little girl. If I knew they were praying for Toby's return I'd feel more confident."

The state highway patrol intensified search of the St. Louis vicinity after they received a report that a woman and child closely resembling Toby and the maid had been seen at a filling station in nearby Jonesburg. Last definite trace of the pair was at Warrenton, 50 miles west of St. Louis. The patrol reported the maid was seen there attempting to hitchhike a ride for herself and the child.

In Cleveland police and state highway patrolmen were on the lookout for the maid and Madeline, since the woman had told Tobias she formerly had lived in Ohio and had been an inmate of a girls industrial school at Delaware, Ohio. Officials of the school said they had no record of such an in inmate but Kansas City police believe the newly-hired maid might be heading for Ohio.

Native Of Detroit Named Miss America

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7 (AP)—Twenty-one-year-old Marilyn Buferd, wearing the ribbon of "Miss California," tonight was chosen as "Miss America" of 1946.

Rebecca Jane "Becky" Mc Call, "Miss Arkansas," was second in competition for the beauty diadem, followed by other runners up in this order:

Janey Miller, "Miss Atlanta"; Marguerite Eileen Mc Clelland, "Miss Louisiana"; and Armelia Carol Ohmart, "Miss Utah."

Miss California is a native of Detroit.

TROUBLE BUILDS UP FOR GREECE

Downing Of Plane Stirs Up New Friction With Rival Yugoslavia

BY L. S. CHAKALES

Athens, Sept. 7 (AP) — Drastic emergency measures were reimposed over a wide area of Greece today to meet what Acting Premier Stylianos Gonatas said was a rising tide of leftist violence which was "not exclusively an internal matter."

Friction between Greece and Yugoslavia intensified as the government weighed a protest against the downing of a Greek military plane, and Greek political leaders protested Yugoslav declarations at the Paris peace conference concerning Macedonia.

The Yugoslav delegate at the peace conference yesterday said it was "time to settle this question of the liberty of the Macedonian people. The people until now have found their liberty only in the popular republic of Macedonia within the Macedonian Yugoslav federation."

Greek leaders apparently interpreted this as a Yugoslav claim to that part of Macedonia which was given to Greece after World War I. The Yugoslav declaration, Gonatas said, was an "official manifestation substantiating our suspicions that trouble and disorder in Greece are not exclusively an internal matter."

Gonatas made the statement as he announced the cabinet's decision to reinvoke drastic emergency measures, including the establishment of military courts empowered to impose the death penalty, to meet violence which he said had increased since last Sunday's plebiscite recalling King George II to the Greek throne.

Armless Skeleton May Be Missing Baltimore Girl, 17

Baltimore, Sept. 7. (AP)—Parents of Jane Neave Hildreth, missing 17-year-old schoolgirl, were unable to say definitely today that the armless skeleton of a teen-ager found in a thicket was that of their daughter, but the mother expressed belief the 20-month-old mystery had been solved.

The girl's father, William S. Hildreth, Charlottesville, Va., banker, and the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Hildreth, visited the morgue with another daughter, Miss Haidee Hildreth, 21.

Dr. Howard J. Maldeis, state medical examiner, would venture no opinion on how the girl whose body was found yesterday met death. He continued an examination, assisted by Dr. H. C. Freimuth, state toxicologist.

After examining fragments of clothing found at the spot, Mrs. Hildreth said they were similar to garments worn by Jane when she was last seen the week before Christmas in 1944.

Flier Sets Record, 616 Miles An Hour

London, Sunday, Sept. 8. (AP)—Capt. E. M. Donaldson of the Royal Air Force established a new world air speed record yesterday by flying 616 miles an hour in a twin-jet engined Globster Meteor IV at Tangmere, England, it was announced officially here today.

TRAIN WRECK KILLS 7

Saint Lo, France, Sept. 7 (AP)—A head-on collision between a fast passenger train and a freight train near here today killed seven persons and injured 50 others, 25 so badly they were hospitalized.

The dead included both engineers, two mechanics and a railroad postal employe.

Locks At Sault Remain World's Busiest Canal

Detroit, Sept. 7, (AP)—The American and Canadian locks of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal carried 86,932,007 net registered tons of shipping in 1945 to remain the busiest canal in the world, it was reported today.

The army corps of engineers office here released its survey of last year's 266-day navigation season. The waterway circumvents the rapids of the St. Mary's river connecting Lake Huron and Lake Superior and is closed by ice in the winter.

In comparison, the Suez Canal carried 29,573,394 net registered tons in 1939, and Panama 24,950,791 in 1941, the last years before war secrecy was instituted. Both these canals operate the year around.

The army's report showed the "Soo" canal carried 89,046,612 registered tons in 1941.

The 1945 figure was a decrease of one per cent from the previous year, it was reported, and the total freight traffic of 113,276,450 tons was a decrease of three per cent over 1944.

A total of 46,044 passengers travelled through the four American locks and the one Canadian lock, a decrease of three per cent.

The American locks handled 98 per cent of the total freight, 95 per cent of the registered tonnage, and 15 per cent of the passengers.

Shipments of pulpwood, flour, wheat, other grains, scrap iron, hard coal, salt, stone, petroleum products and automobiles showed increases, the report said, while other items such as soft coal, iron ore, copper and zinc decreased. This was attributed to the change from war to peace which came during the shipping season.

BOMB TEST PUT OVER TO SPRING

Cost Is Major Factor In Postponement By Truman

Washington, Sept. 7 (AP) — The deep underwater atomic bomb test tentatively set for next spring was indefinitely postponed today by President Truman.

Whether it ever will be held was left indefinite, though the announcement laid stress on the idea that only considerations of the "near future" were involved in the decision and the White House pointed out that the order was not an actual cancellation.

Mr. Truman's statement, as the reason for the decision, mentioned only the fact that a great mass of information on the nature and effect of nuclear fission blasts already has been built up from the five previous atomic explosions. It said the president's military and civilian advisers have concluded that the data the new test would produce is not necessary at this time.

Officers connected with "operation crossroads" which conducted two bomb tests at Bikini lagoon in the Pacific this summer, however, have indicated that a major factor was cost.

Generally, some of those officers told a reporter last week, they would have preferred to go ahead with the final experiment and see how results checked with their calculations. They said they had a great deal of data from the earlier trials from which they could more or less gauge the effects of an explosion under different conditions, but they added that the actual trial would be "useful."

Campaign Outlined In Upper Peninsula For Van Wagoner

Detroit, Sept. 7 (AP)—Plans for an Upper Peninsula trip and intense campaigning in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties were laid by Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic candidate for governor today.

He met with other members of the state ticket and campaign planners to outline the campaign.

The northern tour is scheduled for early October. The former governor will be accompanied by Osmund Kelly, former Flint mayor and candidate for lieutenant-governor.

During the campaign, Van Wagoner said, he will emphasize constructive proposals for improvements in state government, extension of the state's highway system, expansion of state institutions to meet current needs and state assistance to veterans.

CHINESE STRAFE AMERICAN TEAM

Rescue Mission Hunts Survivors Downed In Jehol Province

BY TOM MASTERSON

Peiping, Sept. 7 (AP)— An American rescue mission of four planes flew into Jehol Province today in search of survivors of a cease-fire team which was reported bombed and strafed by Chinese government planes two days ago.

The Chinese Communists, source of the attack report, said three American members were wounded by the planes as Communists and the cease-fire team were evacuating Chengteh, capital of Jehol Province.

Present whereabouts of the survivors is unknown here but they last were reported to have reached Weichang, 80 miles north of Chengteh. The team was headed by Col. J. H. Rustemeyer of Leavenworth, Kas. Col. John M. Ferguson of Wichita Falls, Tex., led the rescue mission.

While lack of communications prevented obtaining confirmation of the attack, an informed source at the American branch of the so-called truce executive headquarters in Peiping said that the Chinese government air force "all along has been a thorn in our side."

This source predicted that a strong American protest would be made to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

"Theoretically the air force should obey agreements made by this tripartite headquarters," the source said, "but actually it never has."

On numerous occasions, he said, the warring Communist and government armies had agreed to local truces, only to have the government air force attack the Communists just as the terms were being obeyed on the ground.

MARITIME LEADERS MAKE THREAT OF GENERAL STRIKE

(By The Associated Press)

A spokesman for the American Federation of Labor last (Sat) night termed "ridiculous" an AFL maritime leader's threat to seek a general strike, as the greatest shipping shutdown in American history slowed the industrial pulse of the nation.

The general strike threat came from Paul Hall, New York port agent of the Seafarers International Union (AFL).

Hall declared that if the government attempted to move any of the hundreds of strike-bound ships in U. S. ports "we will call on all organized labor to come out with us."

Philip Pearl, director of the information section of the AFL headquarters in Washington, said he had been assured the government did not contemplate using troops to man ships and declared: "This scarehead of a general strike threat is ridiculous on its face and has no basis in fact."

Pearl pointed out that the general strike idea had been voiced only by a local union official.

Relief Cargoes Waiting

William Green, head of the AFL, who previously expressed support of the seamen, was not available for comment immediately, but the CIO's Philip Murray told a reporter in Chicago "I wouldn't have any comment on a thing like that."

In Washington an official in close touch with the situation said there had been discussions of what steps the government could take to supply U. S. troops abroad, in the event of a prolonged strike.

But he said that up to now no specific plan had been drawn up.

UNRRA Director F. H. LaGuardia was in New York to appeal personally to strike leaders to free 125 ships with 250,000 tons of relief cargo for Europe and Asia.

But Joseph P. Ryan, head of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) said the former New York mayor knew the futility of such a move.

"La Guardia has had enough acquaintance with longshoremen not to make such a request," he said.

The third-day of the strike of 90,000 members of the SIU and the Sailors Union of the Pacific—Joined by an estimated 400,000 Allied shipworkers, dock hands and CIO seamen—found confusion spreading inland from the nation's hushed seaports.

Tugboat Crews Quit

The Association of American Railroads said about 5,000 loaded freight cars were tied up because of the strike.

This added to the shortage of rolling equipment desperately needed to move the grain harvest,

TAVERN HOLDUP TRIO CAPTURED

Bartender Is Seriously Wounded In Detroit Gun Battle

Detroit, Sept. 7. (AP)—A bartender was seriously wounded and three men were taken into custody early today during a gun battle culminating the attempted holdup of a Harper avenue tavern.

Two young policemen, Stanley Schroeder and Raymond Burrows—both veterans of the war—were walking their beat when they were summoned to the Arrow Cafe on a holdup report.

In an exchange of gunfire, they captured three men, two of them Canadians. Detective Sergeant Carl Falk identified the men as Earl Pillard, 23, and his brother, Leo, 17, of Windsor, Ont., and Americo C. Vinciguerra, 21, of Detroit. Falk said they were booked on robbery armed charges.

Patrolmen Schroeder and Burrows said one of the trio had been guarding the bartender, Edward Kaminski of Detroit, and shot him in the hip as they moved through the safe door. Kaminski was reported in serious condition at Receiving hospital.

With the safe's two exits guarded by police, the three holdup men retreated into a storeroom. Edward F. Sikorski, the tavern owner, got a gun from his kitchen and he and the policemen closed in. All three fired into the storeroom. After returning three shots, the trio surrendered.

Robot Rockets Will Arm New U. S. Warships

Washington, Sept. 7 (AP) — The United States, racing to maintain its naval supremacy, already is building the world's first atomic age capital ships armed with main batteries of robot rockets instead of guns.

The Navy disclosed this tonight in a somewhat terse announcement that the 45,000-ton battleship Kentucky and the 27,000-ton battlecruiser Hawaii would be "guided missile warships." Both ships were started as conventional design vessels, but construction was arrested when the rockets and atomic bombs of the final phases of World War II marked the arrival of a new day in warfare.

The announcement by Vice Admiral E. L. Cochrane, chief of the Navy's bureau of ships, was sparing of detail but left broad implications. Said he:

"The Navy's experiments with guided missiles have always contemplated eventual shipboard installation, although design studies were handicapped until the Navy had made more progress in the development of guided missiles. The design studies now being made for the Kentucky and Hawaii together with the development of missiles guided by carrier-based aircraft, will lead to a revolution in the striking power of naval warships. It is still too early to make any forecast of the ultimate design characteristics of these ships except that they will be guided missile warships."

It was patent, however, that the announcement marked the end of an era—the age of the rifled gun in the main batteries of American naval ships. That gun came into general use by the Navy soon after the close of the Civil War.

SQUEALERS MAY BE AID TO OPA

Rugged Winter And Spring Promised Black Markets

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, Sept. 7. (AP)—OPA's enforcement crew, training for a tough winter campaign to crack black markets, laid plans today to use squealing small violators to trap the big shots.

George Moncharch, deputy OPA administrator in charge of enforcement, said a corner butcher caught peddling black market meat will get off easy if he tells where he got it.

"I will be perfectly satisfied," he told reporters, "if not one retailer whom we catch in a serious violation goes to jail—because it will mean we have got from him his story of what caused his situation."

But for the big operators, he promised, it will be a "rugged" winter and spring. The "screams" expected from all over the country aren't going to stop the drive, he said.

The crusade against a black market in meat is intended to keep housewives from paying even more than the $600,000,000 a year already added to their annual meat bills.

The $600,000,000 is the difference, estimated by OPA, between the cost of meat on June 30, when price controls lapsed, and the higher ceilings which go into effect next Tuesday. The new ceiling prices will mean that retail meat prices will average 3¾ cents a pound higher.

Furthermore, meat probably will be scarce after the revised ceilings apply.

Bitter Territorial Disputes Hit Paris Peace Conference

BY A. I. GOLDBERG

Paris, Sept. 7 (AP)—Yugoslavia served notice on the peace conference tonight she would refuse to sign a treaty with Italy if the delegates approved the Italo-Yugoslavia boundary recommended by the foreign ministers council, and the conference ended its sixth week embroiled in bitter territorial disputes.

The Italian political and territorial commission overwhelmingly rejected a Brazilian proposal to defer decision on establishing the Yugoslav-Italian frontier after Yugoslav Vice Premier Edvard Kardelj denounced the proposal as one aimed at giving Italy all she wanted. The vote was 18 to 1, with Belgium abstaining and only Brazil voting in favor.

RACKET GRAND JURY INDICTS TRIO IN FRAUD

LIQUOR COMMISSION CHAIRMAN IN 1940 IS DEFENDANT

Detroit, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Wayne county labor rackets grand jury today indicted a former state liquor control commissioner, a prosecutor's aide and an AFL Teamsters' Union executive on charges of conspiracy and attempted fraud.

Judge George B. Murphy, the one-man grand juror, named as defendants:

Orrin Alden DeMass, Detroit tailor and liquor commission chairman in 1939-40.

James J. Stewart, chief investigator for Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien.

James R. Hoffa, president of Truck Drivers Local 299 and business agent for AFL Teamsters Joint Council.

Tried To Get $3,000

The warrants specifically charge Hoffa, DeMass and Stewart with attempting to obtain $3,000 from Herman Prujansky, Louis Bernstein and Sam Bernstein in return for assurance by the three defendants they had "fixed" trouble that Turk's Music Bar on Griswold street was having with the liquor commission. The commission subsequently closed the bar on July 2, 1946.

The state contended that the bar, although licensed in Prujansky's name, was financed by the Bernsteins.

Three counts against the defendants charge (1) Conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses; (2) An attempt to obtain money under false pretenses, and (3) An attempt to commit larceny by trick. The warrants do not charge that money changed hands.

The second count covered the period from October, 1945, to January 10, 1946. During that period, the grand jury charges, the defendants attempted to collect $3,000 from the Bernsteins and Prujansky on assurance that they

Airplane Reported Missing Located At Racine Airport

Racine, Wis., Sept. 7. (AP)—A two-engined Cessna plane which had been reported missing on a Detroit-Milwaukee flight was located today at the Horlick Racine airport where it had landed late yesterday after skirting the bottom of Lake Michigan.

Grant Satten, manager of the airport, said the report that the plane was missing apparently was due to "poor radio reception and possibly misinterpretation of radio messages." He said the plane, owned by the Racine Flying Service and piloted by F. Sommers, was on a chartered flight and carried one passenger.

Satten said the pilot originally had filed an instrument flight plan with the CAA calling for a Detroit-Muskegon-Milwaukee route. When bad flying weather was encountered, the pilot radioed Lansing changing the flight plan and stating that he was going to skirt the bottom of the lake and fly over Chicago, Satten said. He added that radio reception was poor but that the pilot said he had obtained acknowledgement of the message.

Satten said the pilot landed at his home port here at 5:55 p. m. (CST).

VETERANS HALT ATHENS TERROR

Protection Promised City Officials In Shooting Fray

Athens, Tenn., Sept. 7 (AP)—Knox Henry, McMinn county sheriff and member of a veterans' slate that took over county affairs in an August uprising, declared today he would use the "full power of my office" to halt terrorizing of city officials.

Sheriff Henry said the organization of ex-GI's would not condone acts of violence which led to resignation of the mayor and board of aldermen of the city. He said veterans were not involved in a reign of terror against the aldermen "as far as we have been able to find out."

City Recorder Herman Lee Moses, World War Two veteran, left with administration of this battle-scarred city's affairs after the resignation of Mayor Paul Walker and the aldermen, said the city would be in a financial jam unless new officials were named soon.

Affairs of the city were turned over to the recorder by the mayor and four aldermen after a fusillade of shots was fired into the home of Alderman Hugh Riggs about 1 a. m. Thursday from a speeding car.

Recorder Moses said today the city's 1946 tax levy had not been made, the 1946-47 financial budget had not been prepared and the city school budget had not been approved. Provision was made for paying salaries to law enforcement officers and other employes of the town, which has a population of 7,000.

British Nab Nazi Who Ordered Rhine Bridges Blown Up

Herford, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—The British announced today the arrest of Josef Grohe, a top ranking Nazi war criminal accused of giving orders to blow the five Rhine bridges at Cologne, one while hundreds of refugees were streaming westward across it to find safety behind Allied lines.

Grohe, former reichcommissioner for Northern France and Belgium, was rescribed by the British as being in the "top flight of Nazi officials and major war criminals," and the last Nazi gauleiter still at liberty. The 43-year-old fugitive had been sought since V-E day.

He was found in bed by a British intelligence officer on Aug. 21 at Warburg near the line dividing the British and American zones of occupation, the announcement said. He was still wearing a bandage to cover a head wound inflicted when he tried to commit suicide four months after Germany fell.

Right Republican Program Can Crack South, Says Stassen

Des Moines, Sept. 7 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, Republican presidential possibility, said today he believed the Republican party, with the right kind of a program, eventually could crack the Democratic "Solid South."

It will take a long time, he told a group of 35 Iowa editors at an informal luncheon at which he asked that he not be quoted directly, but added he believed the Republican party could demonstrate to the people of the South that they had something to gain from another party.

Stassen said the Republican party needed to adopt a realistic labor policy, making its appeal direct to the laboring man, and must avoid any intimation of being an Anti-Labor party.

The United States should retain the military secrets of the atomic bomb, he said until it can be assured of a real program of world control.

The Federal Government should dismiss about a third of the civilian employes as an economy move, he suggested.

Rare Gas May Be Good Anesthetic

Berkeley, Calif.—One of the rarest of gases, xenon, which forms about one 170-millionth of the atmosphere, has possibilities as a new, non-explosive anesthetic, it is indicated by recently released University of California wartime research.

In "tracer" experiments with radioactive xenon, a group of researchers in the Aero-Medical Unit found that the inert gas has narcotic effects on human subjects as well as mice.

In addition to finding obvious physical anesthetic effects, the researchers took radio-autographs of mice fed radioactive xenon, and found that the gas had permeated the spinal cord and whole nervous system in the characteristic manner of anesthetics.

Eagles Make Final Plans Tuesday For Large Initiation

Final plans for one of the big Eagles initiation ceremonies of the year on Sunday, Sept. 15, will be made Tuesday night at a regular meeting of Escanaba Aerie 1088.

A team from the Negaunee lodge has been invited to conduct the initiation rites next Sunday.

already piling up on the ground in some midwestern areas for want of freight cars.

The industrial east — doubly punished by a strike of more than 35,000 AFL truck drivers in New York, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland—was hit by a third walkout of workers particularly vital to 7½ million New Yorkers.

Union tugboat crews were ordered to quit work in the vast New York harbor at 4 p. m. (EDT) Saturday by Capt. William Bradley, president of Local 333, United Marine Division, International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), in sympathy with the AFL Seamen.

The tugs normally bring in an estimated 80 per cent of New York City's fuel and half of its food supplies. A walkout by the union's 3,5000 members last February forced Mayor William O'Dwyer to invoke the seldom-used disaster control board to keep vital services functioning.

Similar conditions were reported up and down the Atlantic Coast, on the Gulf and in the Pacific.

There were no indications of a break in the deadlock from Washington, where the Wage Stabilization Board was slated to meet early next week to "consider a reahearing" of the AFL Seamen's case.

The board trimmed down to $17.50 a month a wage increase the AFL Seamen won from shipping owners amounting to $22.50 on the west coast and $27.50 in the east.

Series Of Charges Against Greeks Are Made By Albanians

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—Albania today drafted a series of bitter charges against Greece which its representative hopes to present personally Monday when the security council again takes up the Soviet Ukraine's complaint against Greece and Great Britain.

Col. Tuk Jakova, Albanian minister without portfolio, has demanded a seat at the table to offer his side of the case, and this Soviet-supported move was expected to touch off another sharp debate.

Persons close to Jakova said the charges would center around these points:

1. A new list of Greek-Albanian border incidents which Jakova holds are being provoked by the Greeks.

2. Contentions that the Greeks are persecuting Albanian minorities in Chamuria in Northern Greece.

3. A detailed rebuttal to Greek claims on Northern Epirus (Southern Albania).

Holy Land Leaders Pass Up Palestine Meeting In London

London, Sept. 7 (AP) — British statesmen and leaders of the Arab world gathered in London today for an attempt at settling the age-old Palestine problem at conferences in which neither Jews nor Arabs from Palestine will be represented.

Despite preliminary friction and refusal of Palestinian Arabs and the Jewish agency executive to attend, Whitehall took the view that the discussions "should be extremely useful in exploring several directions" of thought on the Palestine question.

Settlement of the problem is vital to the British government, which has been distressed by the bad effect the Palestine case has had on Anglo-American relations and worried lest a false move jeopardize the British position in the Middle East.

Small Missouri Towns Are Luring Industries

Fayette, Mo.—Small towners of 211 Missouri communities, from Alma of 366 persons on through the alphabetical list—Brunswick, Galena, Herculaneum, Odessa, Rolla, Skidmore, and Van Buren to Williamsville—all with a total of 1,390 current business opportunities, are pointing out that small-town Missouri residents have never had to stand in line to buy meat, bread, butter, nylons, and other necessities.

Residents of these grass roots towns are speaking through their new local chambers of commerce, 49 of which have been organized since 1944, to give the state of Missouri a total of 244.

"Biggest advantage in our communities," they persuade, "is that you can run your own business and thrive with every other individual's prosperity."

People Are Together

"And be practically free from labor upheavals," adds H. C. Rethwisch, secretary of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce. He has lived in many small communities, in nine states, and extols their welfare.

"The people prosper or suffer together," Rethwisch observes. "Living costs are infinitely less. You enjoy living and take time to live."

As clearing agent for information about opportunities in Missouri small towns, Rethwisch's headquarters in Fayette are on the receiving line this summer for streams of present and future Missouri business men who like small towns.

As examples of communities on the march, Rethwisch points to prospering Eldon, (population 2,590) in the Missouri Ozarks, where residents have willed to go forward behind dynamic Mayor Bob Reed. He has made Eldon spic and span and booming with business by asking others for assistance. Reed attracted a shoe and cheese factory to the town. Now older local businesses are expanding.

Rethwisch also cites Steelville, Mo. (population 1,000). Dr. George D. Vineyard, dentist-mayor, was a newcomer in Steelville four years ago. Since then he has caused abandoned iron deposits to be uncovered and mined re-opened for tourists a long closed 50-room resort, and brought in a small factory that will employ 50 workers.

Seek a Better Town

At Winfield, a community of only 434 people, a chamber of commerce was organized less than a year ago. Today membership stands at 142. Residents are determined to build a better community. Shortly they will vote on a bond issue for water and sewage. They have acquired one new industry employing around 60 people. They also are expanding a brick plant and hatchery.

The drive to discover similar business opportunities in other Missouri towns now permeates the entire state. One after another former service men inquire of the state chamber of commerce: "Where is a good spot to open a drug store?"—or—"What town wants a ladies' ready-to-wear shop?"

Each of the 211 towns "where life is pleasant" has one or more definite needs while also desiring new industries. Picking from the list at random, these show business openings at Lathrop, Mo., jewelry and watch repair shop; Princeton, plumber and photographer; Summersville, creamery and cafe; Billings, shoe and harness repair shop; Bland, newspaper and job printing; Clinton, a hotel, building contractor, and woodworking plant; Alton, handle factory; Centralia, doctors and a hospital; Essex, cold storage locker plant; Fair Play, lumber yard; Norborne, funeral parlor; Russellville, veterinary and at Thayer, a medical clinic.

AUTO PRICES TOP CEILINGS

Costs Of Extra Items Are Passed On To Customers

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
AP Newsfeatures

Washington—Many prospective buyers of new automobiles are astonished to find that they have to pay considerably more—often $140 to $200 more—for a car than its listed OPA ceiling price.

They fail to realize that ceiling prices as fixed by OPA are base retail prices. These don't include several additional items of cost that are passed on to the buyer. There are regularly three, and sometimes five, kinds of these extra charges added to the ceiling price.

The three regular extra costs are the federal excise tax, transportation of the car to dealer, and the dealer's preparing and conditioning charge. Two possible additional kinds of costs are prices of accessories, such as radios, heaters and foglights, and sales tax. Twenty-six states and the city of New York have general sales taxes.

OPA Recognizes Extras

The OPA has a schedule of allowable charges for conditioning autos for delivery, ranging from $15 for cars in the lowest price lines to a maximum of $60 for cars in the highest price lines. OPA recently refused a request of dealer organizations for an overall increase in these scheduled preparing charges.

However, OPA is setting up a procedure under which individual dealers can make higher charges for preparing cars if they customarily did so in pre-war years. The dealer must present sales records and an affidavit to his district OPA office showing that 75 per cent of his pre-war preparing charges were "much higher" than the amount allowed by the OPA schedule.

OPA hasn't announced a maximum for these charges, but an official says thorough investigation will be made of apparently excessive amounts.

Charges Must Be Posted

However, the car buyer will know what he must pay as a preparing charge. The dealer is required to post in his place of business the dollars and cents amounts of his higher charges and a statement that they are in accordance with an affidavit filed with the OPA.

Here are some examples of how extra costs boost the delivery prices:

The lowest price four-door Ford sedan has a ceiling of $1,068. An excise tax of $61.69, transportation costs of $84.50, and a scheduled preparing charge of $15 bring the delivery price in Dallas, for instance, to $1,229.19, exclusive of a possible increase in conditioning charges.

Some Other Examples

In Dallas, similar extra costs boost the $1,261 ceiling of the lowest-priced four-door Dodge to $1,436, not including any increase in conditioning charges. The lowest-priced Buick recently in production was the series fifty with a ceiling price of $1,567 for the four-door sedan. The extra costs raise the delivery price in Dallas to $1,805, not including a possible increase in preparing charges.

In Philadelphia, auto delivery prices are not so high because of lower transportation costs. The four-door Ford would sell for $1,194, the four-door Dodge for $1,387.43 and the four-door Buick for $1,761, not including possible higher conditioning charges for the three cars.

The 1942 list price of the four-door Ford was $885 compared with the present $1,068 ceiling, the Dodge was $998 compared with $1,261, and the Buick $1,280 compared with $1,567. In the last year OPA has allowed four general increases or adjustments of prices. They were granted to compensate for improved engineering, increased wages of auto workers and increases in prices of steel and other materials, and to restore dealer's peacetime markups as required by the new price control act.

QUEEN OF SEAS JUST JUNK NOW

Few Bids Expected On $71,000,000 Heap At Brooklyn Dock

New York (AP)—President Truman has authorized the Maritime Commission to offer the former French Liner Normandie for scrap but shipping experts said they anticipated few bids on the $71,000,000 investment.

The once-proud queen of the seas has been tied up for months at a Brooklyn dock, a rusting, burned-out, 83,423-ton junk-heap.

"Who wants her and how would you scrap her?" asked one Maritime official.

The hulk will be offered to the highest commercial bidder on the American market only, Maritime quarters said, but no privately owned drydock in the country can accommodate the ship for scrapping purposes.

The only way to scrap her is to remove all the metal down to the waterline and then beach her, one shipping man said. Such an operation would be extremely costly and probably exceed the salvage value of the ship, he added.

The Normandie, built in 1935 at a cost of more than $60,000,000, was taken over by the American Navy nine days after Pearl Harbor, renamed the Lafayette and was being converted into a troop ship capable of carrying more than 23,000 men when she caught fire Feb. 9, 1942 and capsized into the ice-filled Hudson river.

The Navy then began the long, aducous $11,000,000 job of raising the vessel. Her superstructure was slashed down to the main deck and 18 months later she was pumped free of water and righted.

Some time afterward it was decided to quit the job.

Detroiter, 68, Held For Shooting Wife In Money Squabble

Detroit, Sept. 7. (AP)—A 68-year-old man is held on a charge of murder in the shooting today of his wife of 43 years during an argument over money matters.

Police Lieut. Harry Gaede identified the man as Walter Herzfeld, 68. Mrs. Minnie Herzfeld, 64, died shortly after she was taken to Receiving hospital with a bullet in her heart.

Detective-Lieut. Leo Doyle of the homicide squad said Herzfeld had admitted firing four shots from a pistol at his wife as she prepared breakfast.

Doyle said Herzfeld told him the couple began arguing over money matters Friday night and continued this morning. Herzfeld said his wife threw a milk bottle at him and seized a knife.

Then, Doyle said he continued, he ran into a bedroom, got a revolver and fired when his wife defied him.

Doyle said a first-degree murder warrant will be sought Sunday.

Michigan Faculty Appointments Made; McKay Gives $2500

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 7. (AP)—The University of Michigan board of regents today announced 22 faculty appointments and accepted $151,937.47 in gifts and grants.

Faculty and staff appointments included:

Henry Alonzo Myers, now of Cornell University, as professor of English; Richard James Hurley, now of the University of Nebraska, as assistant professor of library science; Theodore H. Hubbell, now of the University of Florida, as professor of zoology, and Osborne Bryan Cowles as head basketball coach.

Cowles' appointment to the post formerly held by Bennie G. Oosterbaan, was recommended by the regents last July by Athletic Director Fritz Crisler.

Among the gifts and grants approved by the regents was a $2,500 gift from Frank D. McKay, Grand Rapids, to establish a fund known as the Frank D. McKay Research Fund in Otolaryngology and administered by the medical school dean.

Pastor Puts Curb On Bride Kissing To Stop Giggles

Batavia, Ill., Sept. 7. (AP)—There'll be no more kissing at a Batavia church during weddings, the pastor ordered today, because it causes "gigles and guffaws."

Instead, he recommended, the bride and groom should hold hands.

"Kissing in public is never in good taste," said the Rev. Walter Schlie of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church in a statement to the congregation.

"It appears in a particularly objectionable form when it is done before the altar and in the sight of the congregation, tempting the people to giggle and gaffaw as they watch such intimacies.

"Joining of hands is a sufficient sign of affection," he said. "This is a sacred service, not a social function. Let us not turn the ceremony into a sideshow * * *."

General kissing of the bride was forbidden in the church, but the pastor's order okayed kissing of the bride by the best man and members of the newlyweds' immediate families in the church vestibule.

DELTA POTATO MEN TO MEET

Invite Growers To Join Discussion Aimed At Better Marketing

Growers of certified and tablestock potatoes in Delta county have been invited by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, to attend an 8 p. m. Wednesday meeting at the court house in Escanaba, where a discussion on better marketing practices will be held.

H. A. Lyon, secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce, will be present at the meeting to join in the discussion.

"The city of Detroit, through its Board of Commerce, has become interested in the Michigan potato grower, and they are very much concerned about the number of bushels sold in Detroit that come from other states," Wenner has advised Delta county growers. "I feel that with an organization as large as they are, if the potato growers of the state will give them some support, we will have a much better market for Michigan potatoes."

Wenner also said that while local growers have supported the Potato Development association in the past, he believes "that much more good can be done by working with the Detroit people" in finding a better market for Michigan spuds.

At the meeting Wednesday evening the secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce will tell local potato growers what the Board of Commerce is proposing to do to make a better market for Michigan-grown potatoes.

In the city of Detroit, as in Chicago and the other large Middle Western cities, the bulk of the potatoes received are grown either in the East or the West, and Michigan potatoes take a lower place. Such nearby markets might be recaptured by shipping only topgrade potatoes to meet the competition, marketing authorities believe.

The new class records established this year are for Northern Pike, Muskellunge, Brown Trout, Dogfish, Sheepshead and Bullhead. The new Northern class record holder toppled a 26½ pound mark which had stood since 1939. Others replaced marks in existence for shorter times.

This year's list of winners include two taken by anglers of the gentler sex, the new record Brown Trout taken by ten-year-old Jeanne LaBelle of Stambaugh and the Large Mouth Bass entered by Mrs. Edith Forsman of Escanaba.

Awards will be mailed to the fishermen who entered the winners within the next ten days.

Nazi Weather Data Captured By Allies

Washington, (SS.)— Fourteen million punch cards, covering German wartime weather observations in Africa, the Middle East, Europe and at sea, have been captured by American and British representatives in Germany and are being studied for future use.

Half of the cards are being microfilmed by the U. S. Army Air Forces Air Transport Command Air Weather Service. Preliminary arrangements have been made to exchange these cards for another 7,000,000 held by the British Meteorological Service. The British card supply covers marine observations, while the Air Weather Service's file consists of land reports from three continents.

Future use of the cards is dependent on an analysis of the sources of the information, the Air Weather Service reported. The marine observations will probably be incorporated into the world-wide punch card file maintained by the Air Weather Service in conjunction with the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Science Develops Packaged Speech; New Fields Opened

Associated Press Science Reporter

Philadelphia—(AP)—A Harvard scientist said today that war research had produced a method of "packaging speech" for communications systems that would allow intelligibility with one-tenth the present power requirements for transmitting normal speech and offered potentialities for a five-fold reduction in the size of airborne radio equipment.

Dr. J. C. R. Licklider told the American Psychological Association that the technique could be accomplished by attaching a tiny one-tube electronic device, known as a premolulation clipper and costing about $1.65, to the transmitting microphone.

The technique involves "distorting" speech in such a way that it is still intelligible but less transmitting power is needed. While not applicable to commercial broadcasting where high fidelity sound is required, Licklider said the technique offered potential gains in military radio, transoceanic telephony, and in domestic telephoning over multi-carrier systems but not in ordinary house-to-house telephoning.

Licklider, who did the research for the Navy's office of research and inventions at Harvard's psycho-acoustic laboratory, said the technique had conceivable applications in improving public address systems at railroad stations and at football games, and might even be helpful to persons using hearing aids.

He said the technique would allow two alternatives:

1. Greater range with the same amount of power (that is, by concentrating all power on a smaller sound wave than normally.)

2. A saving in power with the same amount of range.

He said that with less requirements for generating power, radio equipment in airplanes where space and weight are important conceivably could be five times smaller.

Byrnes at Stuttgart

SECRETARY BYRNES, outlining American policy regarding defeated Germany in his speech at Stuttgart Friday, made it plain that American occupation troops will remain in Germany as long as is required to establish a lasting peace. This statement was made not only for the benefit of the German people but for Stalin and his Russian henchmen as well.

Russian policy in Europe for the past year has been directed at one end—to discourage American participation in European directed at one end—to discourage American participation in European affairs, so that Russia could take over Germany by default. That policy may have been devolved to some extent by the reported statement of President Roosevelt to Stalin that American troops could not be kept in Germany for more than two years after victory because of public opinion in this country.

Our objective in Germany, as outlined by Secretary Byrnes, is to establish self-government in Germany along peaceful lines and within rules laid down at Potsdam and Yalta. There has been little accomplishment toward this goal during the past year, simply because of complete lack of cooperation from Soviet Russia. The Russians are not as much interested in creating self-government in Germany as they are interested in ensnaring Germany into the Russian orbit.

It will be impossible to attain the goal of economic unification of Germany's without Russian assistance. The iron curtain has already been drawn across that part of eastern Germany under Russian occupation. The British and American officials have already agreed to a consolidation of their zones and together are pleading with Russia to do likewise. Unfortunately, the prospects for this cooperation and the ultimate unification of Germany which is so essential to the peace of Europe are dim indeed unless Russia abandons its determination to establish herself as the dictatorial ruler of all of Europe that she can ensnare.

Our Upper Peninsula

DEVELOPMENT of the Upper Peninsula will depend mostly on what the people of this region do for themselves, and little can be expected from outside interests.

This is the gist of an editorial, appearing in the Iron Mountain News and prompted by the holding of two planning conferences in Iron Mountain recently. One meeting was held under the auspices of the CIO and the other by the Michigan Planning commission.

The future should be planned for, the News agrees. The Peninsula is neither the most unfortunate nor the most fortunate part of the country. It is suffering from depletion of natural resources largely for the advantage of other parts of the country and persons who have lived and live in other parts of the country. The capital of its pretty well exhausted copper wealth was, for many years, Boston. All but a trifling part of the millions made out of it was spent anywhere, and everywhere, except in the Peninsula. The capital of its iron industry has been Cleveland. The captains of this industry have never esteemed the Peninsula highly enough to place in it responsible officers with power of decision in important matters of administration. Its top men in the area have to consult the Cleveland offices before they can say "yes" or "no" in matters above routine administration. Iron ore has stood up better than copper rock. The district probably will be operating iron mines long after the activity of the copper mines has been forgotten. But iron ore is a diminishing resource.

The other great natural resource of the area was lumber. It was ruthlessly exploited in the early days when lumber was a drug on the market. To a lesser extent than with iron and copper the money made in it was taken out of the region. Many of the larger operators remained in residence. If they have left little behind them but their names perhaps it was the fault of the times as much as of their limited outlooks. But whatever the case the timber wealth has gone the way the copper wealth has gone, and the iron ore wealth is going.

Planning is necessary, and government interest can accomplish something. Geological studies by state agencies designed to reveal the location of possible mineral wealth may help. Good roads will help; making the most of the tourist and recreational resources of the region will help. All these things, and others, must be planned for.

But, finally, the future of the Peninsula will have to depend on what the people living in it and the companies now interested in its industry make it. There are encouraging signs. The Iron Mountain operations of the Ford Motor company are in gradual transference from an all wood basis to one of combination wod and metal. Confidence can be felt in their permanence and growth. The plant is, by all accounts, at this time more than ever justifying itself.

There is much of interest and reassurance in what the Lake Shore Engineering company has been able to accomplish. It takes on these qualities largely because it represents the vision and resource of relatively young men, natives of the region who recognized an opportunity when they saw it and proceeded to make the most of it. What they have been able to do others, if they have the requisite imagination and ability, can do.

There must be, if the future of the region is to be sound, a measure of industrial development within its confines. The only outside interest that has contributed materially to its industrial advance has been Ford Motor. In copper and iron its wealth has been sucked abroad, with no effort to give the area a broad base of industrial stability.

The moral? The Upper Peninsula will be largely what it makes itself. If the past is any criterion, it will get little help from outside interests who dominate its natural wealth.

Forests As Memorials

THE Wisconsin state conservation commission is advocating establishment of community forests as memorials to the heroes of World War II.

The commission points out that already several Wisconsin communities have gotten away from the placing of lifeless stone and bronze monuments on crowded urban thoroughfares and are going out into the rural areas to establish their war shrines.

Escanaba got a start in the right direction after the first World War when the American Legion sponsored Memory Lane on the highway west of the city. The project has done much to enhance the appearance of the stretch of road.

The Press invites communities to consider participation in its Treees Forever program. Establishment of public forests by municipalities, schols, 4-H clubs and civic organizations will provide living memorials to the war heroes, and at the same time advance the reforestation and conservation movement in the Upper Peninsula.

Retailers Organize

THE retail merchants of Manistique are moving along a progressive path in organizing a retailers' division of the Schoolcraft-Manistique Chamber of Commerce.

Unity of retailers in such matters as store closing hours, city-wide retail promotions, etc., is sound business and good service to the customers.

Retailers possess many problems that are distinct from the problems of the Chamber of Commerce at large. The retailers committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce is one of the most important committeees in the organization and the success of the Escanaba C-C is due in no small measure to the unified cooperation of the retail merchants.

Escanaba has earned its reputation as the best retail trading center of the Upper Peninsula because its merchants have banded together to attain that goal.

Manistique can materially improve its retail activity through a similar plan. Obviously they are determined to do it.

PLAIN CITIZEN'S VALUE
(New York Times)

William G. Williams, 70, describes himself as a "plain American citizen." Acting in that capacity, he protested to various government agencies against what he thought was an inconsistency in government policy—delivering ultimatums to Yugoslavia with one hand and handing over ice-making machines to her with the other. The shipment was stopped.

Few American citizens, either plain or fancy, probably can expect to score on their initial effort the success that Mr. Williams achieved. That should not deter anyone from trying. Nor does it remove the responsibility for trying. The very essence o fdemocracy is that the individual citizen participate in government. And not alone by exercise of the franchise at the ballot box, which is about the only way the great majority ever do participate.

Too often it is only the fanatics who go to the trouble of telling public servants what they think is wrong with operations. Their efforts clutter up the mail and put all suggested reforms in disrepute. But this is all the more reason why those with sensible ideas should take the trouble to present them.

World Events Analyzed

BY BARNET NOVER

Paris—There was a time when such a sharp conflict of views as that reflected in the speeches of Ivanoe Bonomi of Italy and Ales Bebler of Yugoslavia on the explosive Trieste problem would have given the Peace Conference a new case of jitters. Actually, the latest Italo-Yugoslav flareup here passed by without incident. It was taken as a matter of course. The fact is that the delegates have got used to living in a continuous atmosphere of crisis so that what in a happier day used to be regarded as abnormal has become normal, and statements that once aroused violent passions are now passed by with no more than a shrug.

Bonomi's speech was a good deal more moderate and conciliatory than was the earlier statement of Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi. That did not save him from a fierce castigation by the Yugoslav spokesman. Bebler also took occasion to denounce the United States, Great Britain and France for what he declared to be their stubborn opposition to the Yugoslav plan to make the Trieste area an autonomous republic within the Yugoslav federation.

But it is most unlikely that what either Bebler said or what Bonomi said will have any bearing on the decisions which the conference is likely to reach on the Trieste problem. For better or worse, the die has been cast, so far as the future frontier between Italy and Yugoslavia and between the Trieste area and its hinterland are concerned. On these questions the Big Four did reach agreement at the July meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The one thing which has become clear at this conference is that every such agreement will be, with a varying degree of distaste, supported at the Peace Conference by all four. This fact, too, is realized by the delegates. They are now perfectly well aware that any attempt to change the agreed-on clauses in the settlements with Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland can get nowhere without the consent of all members of the Big Four.

Some of the smaller powers have not given up trying, and they deserse credit for their pertinacity, since the draft settlements are full of glaring inequities. But every move that is made by Western nations to recommend the revision of the draft treaties has met with a blast from the Russians that those attempting to do so are out to sabotage the conference by delaying tactics. They have, however, not included in their castigations Byelorussia, Yugoslavia and other delegations that have sought to change the treaties in a pro-Russian direction.

The real question concerning Trieste is no longer whether it should or should not be internationalized or whether its frontiers should or should not be those determined by the Big Four acceptance of the so-called French line. The real question now is whether, once set up, the internationalized territory of Trieste will have any chance to function. It cannot be said that there is much hope of that at the conference.

No system can work at Trieste unless not only Italy and Yugoslavia but all the great powers as well are determined to make it work. This means first of all the setting up of a form of government in Trieste that would be strong enough to resist outside pressure and be more than the stooge of some foreign government. There is so far no indication that Russia as the protector of the Tito regime at Belgrade is ready to permit such a regime to come into being.

The very fact that to secure important concessions from Great Britain and the United States on other matters it abandoned its original demand that Trieste be turned over outright to Yugoslavia has made Russia anxious to satisfy Yugoslav desires in other ways. One way of doing so is to impose a government on Trieste that would sooner or later break down or that would be in fact if not in name an extension of Yugoslav authority.

But even with the best, the most honest, the most independent and courageous government in the world Trieste cannot retain the status which the Council of Foreign Ministers has assigned to it without the economic cooperation of Yugoslavia. With all but one of the railroads leading in and out of Trieste in Yugoslav hands, the Belgrade government is in a position to strangle Trieste economically and use the ensuing plight of the inhabitant of that city as a lever for ultimate annexation.

Former Premier Bonomi was only expressing a very strong probability when he declared that if the present plan goes into effect Trieste will become an apple of discord between Italy and Yugoslavia. Actually it is that now and a permanent menace to peace. It happens that Trieste is only one of the focal points of conflict between Russia and the Western powers, but it is an important one. The conflict over Trieste was not resolved when the Big Four agreed to internationalize Trieste and fix the borders of the proposed so-called free territory. That only shifted the area of conflict from the territorial to the government and economic level.

In fighting over again issues which for better or worse the Big Four settled at the July meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council, the Italians and Yugoslavs and their respective supporters at the Peace Conference are waging a futile battle for a lost cause.

The Bear Went Over the Mountain---

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

SCHOOLS REOPEN—A reconversion period is underway all over the country these days as teachers and children resume their work after the summer's interruption, and mothers are changing their household routine to fit the school schedules. The leisurely morning risings, the day filled with neighborhood activities among the younger set — these are no more until next summer.

Dunathan

Children come home to report on their first days of school, their reaction to their new teachers, and sometimes tall stories on the fearful work prospect ahead of them in the coming year. Teachers are beginning to swing into the never-monotonous routine of their work and, if they have a sense of humor, extracting as much enjoyment from it as possible.

One teacher starts her children off by asking if they had a good time while they were on vacation. This is answered enthusiastically by the kids. Teacher then assures them that she had a nice vacation, too—"only it wasn't long enough but we all have to come back to school." This puts them all in the same group, and their is an immediate bond of sympathy.

• • •

TEACHER KNOWS — Those first few days of school are the testing ground for teacher-pupil relationship for the rest of the year. Teachers know this and attempt to establish a condition of mutual respect as soon as possible.

Students in one of the lower grades in an Escanaba school were impressed with the capacity of their teacher's understanding when she said to her class the first day: "When you go home, I'll bet the first thing your mother says will be 'Who is your teacher? and then 'How do you like her?'"

Coming back to school in the afternoon the students all reported that teacher was right—their mothers had all asked those very questions.

• • •

OF PRE-SCHOOL AGE — The little boys and girls who are not yet old enough for school find the list of their playmates suddenly depleted when school bells ring. Off go the older ones, leaving the pre-school "babies" home.

One of the pre-school group is the daughter of Mrs. Willard Nichol, R. N., of 502 South Ninth street, whose mother is a nurse at St. Francis hospital. The daughter's name is Penny, and she is three years old. Her father was a casualty in the recent war.

Penny Nichol has a nickname which she revealed to a friend of the family the other day when Penny was playing near the friend's house.

"What is your name?" asked the friend, making conversation.

"My name is Penny Nichol — but the kids all call me Six Cents," said Penny seriously.

GRADE SCHOOL RHYME — The poetic urge breaks out among school children at a very tender age. Just who was originally responsible for the rhyme being repeated by grade school kids in Escanaba is not known, but the verse appeals to them particularly because it contains one rather indelicate word:

First grade babies,
Second grade tots,
Third grade angels,
Fourth grade snots,

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1946

Nurnberg, Germany — Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler tonight in a speech before 80,000 Nazis assailed Bolshevism, Democracy and Jews at the fourth annual convention of the Nazi party.

One of Upper Michigan's oldest residents, Mrs. Maria Sjoberg, who was 94 years old on January 26, last, passed away at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in a local hospital.

A daughter was born Wednesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Clement Linder of Nadeau.

Mrs. Josephine Campbell was re-elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Cloverland Post 83, at the annual business meeting held Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sundblad of Gladstone are the parents of a son, born Wednesday at St. Francis hospital.

20 Years Ago—1926

Mr. and Mrs. O. D'Amour of Rapid River are the parents of a son, born yesterday at St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. John Christoph, 52, suffered a paralytic stroke at her home, 521 South Tenth street, and died yesterday morning as she was preparing to go to mass.

An 11-pound son was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Calouette at their home, 307 South 15th street. Mrs. Calouette was formerly Miss Margaret Gunter.

Wallace Cameron and Aino Karjala, Gladstone riders in the Labor Day bicycle derby, won first place and the $75 cash prize when they finished Monday afternoon 27 laps ahead of their nearest competitors.

Joseph and William Coplan, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Coplan, 412 South Ninth street, and Joseph Roth of Chicago, a friend, were badly shaken up Sunday night when the coupe in which they were riding figured in a collison with a machine driven by John Harder of Wells.

FIRST LOVE—Emotional aftermath of the first day in school was revealed by one Junior High school girl at a drug store soft drink counter in Escanaba the other day. Sipping her coke and chatting with a classmate she said: "He sits right in front of me! Am I lucky—and is he nice!"

FOLLOWED TO SCHOOL — One of the surest indications that summer is ending, September is here, and that school has begun is the number of dogs following their young masters down the street each morning and noon. Faithfully as the children, the dogs follow the boys and girls to school and there join somewhat halfheartedly in the play before the last bell rings.

For a time after the children enter school and the doors close the dogs wait. Then they wander off by ones and twos, homeward bound.

Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. Q. I want to get certain notations corrected on my Army discharge certificate. Where should I send it for correction?

A. Send it to the Demobilized Personnel Records Branch, Records Administration Center, AGO, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis, 20, Mo.

Q. Are mustering out pay, disability pensions, State bonus, subsistence allowances, and death compensation payments, subject either to Federal or States Taxes?

A. No.

Q. Please give directions for building a fire in a fireplace.

A. The best woods to use for an open fire are hickory, apple, cherry and oak. Make a cradle of kindling on the andirons by laying some pieces lengthwise and others across and on this way lay two logs with space between. Across the logs arrange more kindling crosswise, and place one or two logs of fair size over all. To start the fire put paper under the cradle. Fireplace wood should be seasoned at least one year; green wood is hard to ignite and smokes excessively, but a green log may be used as a backlog.

Q. When taking leave of my hostess at a luncheon recently, I praised a delicious salad she had served. My friend called me down and said that my remark was not in good taste. We had quite an argument, but, as usual, it did not settle the matter. Which one of us was right?

A. In general, it is not good form to comment on food served, except to praise it to the hostess, quietly and briefly. The enjoyment of well prepared dishes is taken for granted. If you are well acquainted with your hostess, and are alone with her sometime, it is perfectly good form to express your delight at some special dish.

Q. Can information given to the government by a worker in connection with his Social Security account be kept secret from his employer?

A. All information given to the government by a worker in connection with his Social Security account, is confidential and will not be revealed to anyone, not even to representatives of other departments of the Government except as required for the proper administration of the insurance provisions of the Social Security Act.

Q. What does the surname Getsinger mean?

A. It is an American variant spelling of a German surname meaning "son of the hostage."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—Today Drew Pearson, back in Washington, writes his column in the form of a message to the diplomats of the Paris peace conference, which he recently attended.)

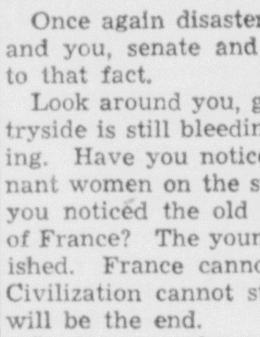
Washington, D. C., September 7, 1946.
To the Delegates of the Peace Conference:

For many days, gentlemen, I watched your deliberations in Paris. For many weeks I have studied all the reports on your progress. I am not alone. Millions of others also have watched you — Mothers who pray their sons may live in a warless world, wives whose husbands' future depends on you. All are watching you.



Pearson

We have watched you win a point of procedure and hail it as if you had won a battle. We have heard you debate claims and counter-claims, restitution and national honor. We did not send you to Paris to defend our honor; we defended it ourselves in battle.

We sent you to Paris to secure peace. Yet you have sat in the red plush seats of the palace of Luxembourg, prim, proper, helpless, watching a new world catastrophe descend upon you, doing little to head it off. This is supposed to be a time of reconstruction, of building up. Yet, at the palace of Luxembourg, there is no lilt in any man's voice, no lift in any statesman's arm.

Once again disaster is sweeping upon us and you, senate and solemn, sit oblivious to that fact.

Look around you, gentlemen. The countryside is still bleeding; humanity is bleeding. Have you noticed how few the pregnant women on the streets of Paris? Have you noticed the old men tilling the fields of France? The young generation has vanished. France cannot stand another war. Civilization cannot stand another war. It will be the end.

Look up, gentlemen, at the gold-encrusted, carved woodwork of the palace of Luxembourg, remnants of the lush days of the De Medicis. Look up and close your eyes. Imagine the carved woodwork to be white crosses . . . at Guadalcanal and Stalingrad, at Tobruk and Salerno, at Minsk and Dunkerque, at the Rapido and on Iwo Jima. Remember that thousands of eyes are watching you—staring out from under those white crosses. They cannot speak, but they will never forgive. Will you be able to sleep at night, gentlemen, with those eyes haunting you?

—OUR ALLIES FORGET—

The war is over one short year, yet some of you have set yourselves apart from us. Worse, you are setting us apart from each other. We who were allies in the war are becoming distrustful strangers in peace. Why is it that you have such short memories? Do you not recall how one country rushed airplanes, food, jeeps, tanks, all the materials of war to Murmansk and the Gulf of Persia to help an ally with its back to the wall at Stalingrad? Have you forgotten how the American people gladly forewent bread to send wheat to a nation which now shoots its airplanes like iron ducks in a shooting gallery?

Mr. Byrnes told you, as the conference opened, that the American people did not intend to draw back into the shell of their traditional isolation. He might also say that even though one country's policy is a diplomatic war of nerves to discourage America's part in keeping the peace, she will not be discouraged. The American people learned once the tragic result of yielding to Hitlerian bulldozing. They do not intend to make that mistake again.

—PEACE RESTS ON PEOPLE—

Every war is followed by proposals for international peace. During the wars of religion in the 12th century, Pierre Dupois said, "Let us have a union of European princes, with a council, a court, and collective action to enforce peace." In 1623, Emeric Cruce sought freedom of trade, a world court and a world union. The "Grand Design" of Henry IV was as hopeful as your United Nations. William Penn, Abbe Saint-Pierre, Jean Jacques Rousseau, Peremy Bentham, Immanuel Kant — all proposed plans for world peace.

These things have been tried and tried again. They have never been enough. Even without the paralyzing "veto" they have failed. For peace is not to be found in treaties alone. Peace must rent on a new spirit of cooperation, a new spirit of friendship, a new determination to build for peace. That determination is present in the hearts of men, but not always among their governments—especially certain governments which seem to think they will slip from power unless their people are stirred up against a bogus foreign enemy.

Peace, I repeat, does not come from a union among nations. It comes from an understanding among peoples. And there can be no understanding when people are separated one from the other.

RATES RAISED BY NEWSAPERS

High Cost Of Newsprint And Labor Sends Prices Up

New York (AP)—Of 1,748 Daily newspapers in the United States, 251 have increased circulation rates since January 1, and four have decreased rates, an analysis of notices received by the American Newspaper Publishers Association disclosed today.

Increases generally were ascribed to the high cost of newsprint, labor and other operating expenses.

Forty-two newspapers jumped their daily retail price from 4 to 5 cents.

Only one newspaper in the United States, The Mechanicsburg, Ohio, Telegram, continued to retail for 1 cent. In 1943 there were four. There were only 42 papers retailing for 2 cents as against 84 in 1943.

The Dallas, Tex., News increased the retail price of its Sunday paper single copies, from 10 cents to 15 cents, making it one of the highest, if not the highest, retail figures for single Sunday copies in the United States.

The sharpest leap in rates was recorded in January when 9 papers notified their readers of increases. February showed the second largest with 60 increases.

Approximately 40 have gone up in the last two months.

German Synthetic Products Described

Washington —Squeezing vitamins out of wood wastes; turning paper into a "leather" briefcase, and flying an airplane on brown coal tar and hydrogen, are some of the German wartime achievements, disclosed in reports published here.

Growing dried yeast on the sugar-containing wood wastes left over from paper making plants and on other industrial wastes, the Germans were able to produce as much as 1,500 tons a year. Extremely rich in vitamin B, it was used in spaghetti sauces, biscuits, soups, and sprinkled on salads where it was said to have a flavor like parmesan cheese. They also made a vegetable "sausage" out of dried yeast, soya, and flavoring.

Waste product yeast foods were used mainly to supplement the diet of soldiers and prisoners of war.

Another product of German research described by American investigators was an artificial leather, made of paper impregnated with neoprene, then hot pressed at about 120 degrees Centigrade. Bags and brief cases made from this material several years ago were found to be in excellent condition. Another use of neoprene was to cement buna to submarine hulls to avoid shortwave detection.

Leftist Newspapers Suspended In Korea For U. S. Security

Seoul, Korea—(AP)—U. S. Army headquarters today announced the suspension of three leftist newspapers for "endangering the security of United States army forces in Korea."

The statement did not elaborate on the security angle.

An undetermined number of employes of the newspapers were taken into custody.

The announcement said the three publications had been more critical than ever of American occupation policies since the Aug. 31 statement of Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge who charged that "vicious propaganda was coming from the mouths of the press and from pamphlets and posters of some political groups in South Korea." South Korea is occupied by the United States, North Korea by Russia.

It is estimated there is one printing plant for every 3,600 people in the United States.

CANADIAN BOYS ON TOUR — Peter Runkle and Hugh D. # Soldier Is Held For Attempted Sale Of Stolen Bicycle

Pvt Frank Stewart, 18, whose home address is 901 First avenue north, was arrested by city police yesterday when he offered for sale to a second hand dealer, a new bicycle which had been stolen a short time earlier from the junior high school.

The machine was recovered before its loss was even reported by its owner, R. E. Savageau, 1620 11th avenue south.

It is probable that Stewart will be returned to military authorities at his station in Texas. Stewart told officers he was on furlough but his leave papers could not be found at his father's home. He is being held in the county jail.

Young Canadians Travel Miles With Few Dollars

Two former Canadian soldiers, Hugh D. Gibson and Pete Runkle, both of Vancouver, B. C., are having the time of their lives touring the country with a light blue automobile, which looks like a racing car but confidentially won't make more than 45 miles per hour.

The 20-year-old youths usually don't know when they get up in the morning where their next meal or next gallon of gas is coming from, but thanks to the helpfulness and generosity of various folks they meet they get along all right. They are clean-cut, friendly chaps, and very likeable. And they are puzzled why everyone is so nice to them.

"Americans are the nicest people," said Hugh. "Honestly, they are more hospitable than the people in Canada."

"Just imagine," said light-haired, grinning Pete. "We arrived in Escanaba Wednesday with just 80 cents between us. Without any difficulty, we got a job setting up pins at the bowling alley and a place to sleep. Then, we went to the Employment Service, and we were referred to the veterans housing project, where we went to work. We went to a restaurant, and Hugh offered to leave his wrist watch as security for a meal ticket until we received our pay. The restaurant owner refused the watch, but gave us a meal ticket, saying he would trust us."

On Exercise Musk-Ox

The two Canadian youths were buddies at the University of British Columbia before they entered the Canadian army in January, 1945. They received their training at Wetaskiwn and Calgary, Alta., Hugh going into the infantry and Pete to a truck driving school at Woodstock. Ont.

Pete was assigned as a driver-mechanic on Exercise Musk Ox in January, 1946, and drove a Snowmobile from Churchill, Ont., on a 3100-mile circle through the Northwest Territory, Victoria Island, Fort Nelson, B. C., and ending up in Edmonton, Alta., May 6, 1946. At Churchill, on the shore of Hudson bay, he met Wallace Kirkland, well known in Escanaba, who was taking pictures of the start of the expedition for Life magazine.

Went Broke In Texas

After receiving their honorable discharge from the army, Hugh and Pete got together in Vancouver and decided to see the country before returning to college. They left Vancouver on July 22 with their rebuilt automobile and $100 each. They went through the Pacific Northwest and Southwest, and went broke at Fort Worth, Tex. Then, they begin working their way. They were well diggers in Fort Worth, construction workers in Dallas, ditch diggers in Joplin, Mo., flunkies in a stove factory in Anderson, Ind., and performed other odd jobs on their travels to Detroit, Toronto, Sarnia the Straits of Mackinac and Escanaba.

With the wages from two days work at the housing project and setting pins at the bowling alleys, they have accumulated enough gasoline to start on their way Monday to their next stopping place.

They are due to enroll at the University of British Columbia on Sept. 23, but they confessed they don't know what courses they will take.

"We'll decide on our careers after we get there," said Pete, still grinning.

Fact-Finding Board Fixes Pay Hike For Pullman Conductors

Washington — (AP) — A federal fact-finding board, in a 2 to 1 decision, has recommended that the 18½ cents an hour railroad wage increase be paid to Pullman conductors on the basis of a 240-hour month even though their actual working month is 225 hours.

The dissenting member, Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of the Nebraska supreme court, protested that the decision "unlocks the doors and furnishes a vehicle to be used in further tearing down anti-inflation controls."

The majority, I. L. Sharfman, chairman, and Walton H. Hamilton, held that traveling railroad employes are in a different situation than workers with a fixed place of employment who "may come to work and leave the job at fixed times" and that a different standard should be used in calculating their work-month.

The decision, granting a monthly increase of $44.40, was hailed by officials of the Order of Railway Conductors of America.

The company had contended that the increase should be only $41.62½ based on a 225-hour month.

TO LIVE IN ST. PAUL — Miss Therese Corcoran, daughter of Edward B. Corcoran, and Thomas R. Harristhal, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Harristhal, exchanged vows at an August wedding in St. Joseph church. The young couple will make their home in St. Paul, where the bridegroom is employed. (Selkirk Photo.)

Therese Corcoran, Thomas Harristhal Are Wed Recently

Vari-colored gladioli decorated the altar of St. Joseph's church for the late summer wedding which united in marriage Miss Therese Corcoran of this city and Thomas R. Harristhal of St. Paul, Minn.

The bride is the daughter of Edward B. Corcoran, 426 South 15th street, and the late Mrs. Corcoran. Mr. Harristhal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Harristhal, 211 South Tenth street.

The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. Fr. Alphonse Wilberding at a 10:30 nuptial mass on August 31.

The bride's gown of white brocaded satin was styled with a short train, long pointed sleeves, and fastened in the back with pearl buttons. Her finger-tip veil was gathered to a satin coronet, and she wore a single strand of pearls, which had been given to her by her mother. Gardenias, gladioli, and baby mums formed her all-white bridal bouquet, which had shower streamers of baby ribbon tied with tiny flowers.

Rose Corcoran, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Joann Harristhal and Regina King. They wore fitted taffeta gowns fashioned with cap sleeves, sweetheart necklines, and bustle bows in the back. The maid of honor wore pink, and the bridesmaids wore white. They carried tiny nosegays, the maid of honor's bouquet a miniature replica of the bride's. Pink and white gladioli, bachelor buttons, and baby mums formed the bridesmaids' bouquets.

Robert Jones of Milwaukee served as best man, and the ushers were Donald Messier and Robert Roeder.

Music of the mass was sung by the St. Joseph senior choir, with the traditional wedding marches played by the organist, Miss Eva Cossette.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Sherman hotel, where a reception was also held from 3 'til 5 o'clock, with 50 guests attending.

LARGEST BOAT BUILT ON RIVER

Floating Drydock Was Constructed At Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh (SS)—When a large-size floating drydock for ocean vessels slid sideways into the Ohio here last month, Pittsburghers took pride because it is the largest ocean craft ever built on the inland rivers of America. It is not, perhaps, the largest built on inland waters; the Great Lakes still claims the honor.

The vessel has a long trip ahead of it before it tastes salt water. It will proceed, manned by the Navy for which it was built, down the Ohio and Mississippi, 2,000 miles to the Gulf of Mexico. First, however, it will rest at an outfitting dock where work of completing the vessel is under way, then undergo lifting tests.

This shiplifting giant, defined by the Navy as an auxiliary repair dock, is 448 feet long, 97 feet wide, and 45 feet high. It is large enough to accommodate ships of the Liberty type. It is an all-metal craft with its hull plates butt-welded. It has no propellers, being moved from place to place on the end of a towline.

However, for repair work, it is a complete unit with quarters for its crew and skilled mechanics. It has diesel electric generators for light and power. It has machine-shops, workshops, and its own water distilling plant. It has recreational space for its men, and tremendous food storage capacity so that many workers can be well fed for long periods at remote places.

Before leaving the Pittsburgh area, the drydock will undergo submergence tests. The Ohio is not normally deep enough for such tests with a floating drydock this size, so a special "hole" has been dug by Army Engineers in the bed of the river just above the Montgomery dam near Rochester, Pa. This provides water 45 feet deep.

The vessel was built by the Dravo Corporation, under supervision of the Navy at its Neville Island Yards here.

SHOOTS BIG OWL — Edmond Beauchamp, Watson farmer, was awakened one night recently by the noise created by his flock of ducks. Going outside, he saw a large owl had killed a duck and was trying to fly away with the dead fowl. Beauchamp went into the house, got his rifle and shot the marauder.

Gossard Factory Will Employ 600

Ishpeming—With 580 workers now on its payroll here, the H. W. Gossard company is hopeful that during September it can cross the 600 mark for an all-time record for the 26 years it has been located in Ishpeming.

More than four-fifths of a million dollars poured into business and savings channels in the community last year, as the payroll went over the $800,000 mark.

Secure in its position as one of the producers of quality foundation garments, the H. W. Gossard company has a greater stability today than at any time in its history. Its brand is well known throughout the world and warehouses stacked with garments to serve women of all countries and races are located in Chicago, New York, Atlanta, Dallas, San Francisco, Toranto, Buenos Aires, Argentina and Sydney, Australia.

Gossard located in Ishpeming in 1920 and operations have continued steadily since without a layoff. The plant closes each year for two weeks, during which all vacations are taken and machinery overhauled.

Gossard workers have a 40-hour week, employes getting one or two-weeks vacations depending on length of service. A rest period is offered every morning. During the day the whirl of machinery is heard as experienced employes finish 550 dozen garments every working day. Through power sewing machines comes a steady flow of garments, using up in a single day approximately 3,900 yards of materials.

30 Per Cent Increase Recorded On Labor Day Weekend

St. Ignace—Automobile traffic on the State Ferries across the Straits of Mackinac over the Labor Day weekend ran about 30 percent ahead of the same period last year according to figures released by Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Total cars and trucks carried by the four department owned ferries, City of Petoskey, City of Munising, City of Cheboygan and Straits of Mackinac, supplemented at times by the huge railroad ferry, Chief Wawatam, for the three days, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, amounted to 12,844. For the same three days in 1945 vehicles carried totaled 9,168, a difference of 3,676. Traffic over the Labor Day weekend in 1941, the previous banner year for the state ferries, was slightly ahead of the same period this year, a total of 13,756 being carried.

Comparative traffic figures for the three-day weekend are as follows:

| Year | Sat. | Sun. | Mon. | Total |

Tagless, Careless Bike Owners Are Given Penalties

Failure to have bike licenses and improper parking by 21 juvenile bicyclists brought the customary penalty of writing the bike rules ten times, to the violators yesterday in bicycle court.

Sgt. Philip Bruce, traffic officer, said that a number of past violators who have failed to perform the penalty are being checked on and all will be given additional "sentences." Parents are asked to cooperate by encouraging the youngsters to comply promptly with the court orders. Usually violators are given a week in which to write the rules and turn them in to police headquarters.

Bike owners are reminded again that it is unlawful to own and opis properly registered, and has disis properly registered 'and has displayed on its rear fender or mud guard its registration number." The registration tag must remain so affixed until the bike is re-registered or until the tag is removed by the police for cause.

Tags cost twenty-five cents and may be had at the police department.

The bike parking regulation, which follows, is directed to the attention of new bike owners: "No person shall park a bike on a street other than the roadway against the curb or upon a sidewalk in a rack on the outside edge of the sidewalk to support the bike or at the curb in such manner as to afford the least obstruction to pedestrian traffic and free passage to the public."

HEALTH CENTER PLAN OUTLINED

Development Of Hospital Service To Michigan Residents Studied

Lansing—(AP)—The State hospital survey committee has before it the State hospital survey committee's plan to provide adequate hospital service to Michigan residents through regional and community hospital centers, and public health and medical service centers.

The plan calls for the further development of the two medical education centers at the University of Michigan and Wayne University, the creation or expansion of 71 regional hospital centers, 81 community hospital centers and 181 public health and medical service centers within the state.

If the planning commission approves the program, the committee said, federal funds are available for hospital construction but the legislature will have to pass a special enabling act to permit the acceptance and allocations of the funds.

The committee estimates that 118 general and allied special hospitals with a total of 25,749 beds would be adequate for the state's needs.

There were 292 hospitals with 19,361 beds in 1944, but the reduction in number of hospitals is to be offset under the plan by the establishment of 181 public health and medical service centers making a total of 299 medical and hospital service institutions in the state.

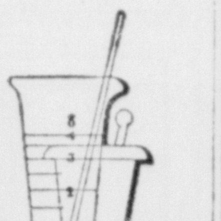
THE FRUIT OF UNCEASING LABOR



★ Between 1911 and 1935, a brief span of twenty-five years, extraordinary progress was made in public health. According to figures released by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the duration of human life during this period was extended by almost fourteen years. It is all the more remarkable in the light of the history of this period, which included the first World War, the worst epidemic in recent history, and America's most severe depression.

Many agencies have contributed to make America a more healthful place in which to live. Not the least of these are scientific medicine and pharmacy, which work unceasingly for better methods of prevention and treatment of disease.

HEARING TESTS START TUESDAY

Children In Fourth To Twelfth Grades Will Be Examined

Munising—Munising Township school children will have their hearing tested in a series of Audiometer tests to be given in the schools to children in the fourth to 12th grades beginning Tuesday, September 10, it was announced yesterday by Superintendent H. A. Wood.

Raymond Cromer, hearing consultant of the Michigan Department of Health will be in Munising on September 10 and 11 to start the tests in the Munising city schools. Mrs. Pearl Dolan will work with him here and she will take charge of the tests for the remainder of the time necessary to complete hearing testing in Alger county.

The tests will be held in room 207 of the Mather high school, for all children of Munising township schools, Mr. Wood said yesterday. Exact dates of the outlying township school tests have not been set yet, but the children will be transported to the Mather high school, Munising, for the test, Mr. Wood said.

The tests are given to 40 children at a time, each individual having his own earphone, with first one ear and then the other ear being tested. The examination takes about 20 minutes.

Those showing impaired hearing will be given further tests, and those who need corrective methods will be taken care of.

Statistics show that in Michigan, out of a hundred thousand persons tested, 4 per cent needed attention, 2½ per cent needed class room adjustment and 1 per cent needed specialized education.

Eighty per cent of the children found with hearing losses have been improved with proper medical attention and 60 per cent can be restored to normal hearing again, the department reported in their letter recommending holding the hearing tests.

Appeal Made For Homes For Children

Munising—Alger county's housing situation is acute, but "somewhere" there must be room for several youngsters who are in need of homes, Mrs. Ruth Webber, county welfare agent, said today in making an appeal for boarding homes for children.

Ranging in age from infancy to 17 years, youngsters from broken-up homes, some who have been neglected and still others totally dependent upon the public for their needs, will be placed in Alger homes for care. Such "boarding homes" must be approved by the county probate court and then licensed by the state department of social welfare. Various state agencies contribute toward paying for the child's board, clothes, medical and dental care.

Any families interested in boarding one or more children are asked to contact Mrs. Webber or the county probate court.

"The need for boarding homes is very great," Mrs. Webber said, "and we hope to secure public cooperation in providing homes for the several youngsters who need them."

She pointed out that there is no possibility of adopting the children, but they may be kept until the probate court determines that continued boarding is not necessary. Ordinarily one child is permitted to go to each boarding home, unless it is licensed at no cost, to take care of more.

Munising—A wire recorder, a new device for use as a dictating and recording machine in place of the old type tubular records, has been purchased by the Munising Township school system, Superintendent H. A. Wood announced yesterday.

The machine will be used in speech classes to help individuals improve their speech and will also be used for group work. It is planned to record band and orchestra numbers and play them back so the students may hear their errors.

"There are so many different uses the machine can be put to in helping the school it is hard to enumerate them," Mr. Wood said.

Bette Matson And Frank Laurich Are United In Marriage

Munising— Miss Bette Jane Matson daughter of Mrs. Mae Matson, 308 W. Onota street, became the bride of Frank Laurich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kosher, East Munising, in a beautiful candle light ceremony performed at the First Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon, September 7. This date was chosen by the couple as it would have been the bride's parents 25th wedding anniversary, had Mr. Matson lived.

Rev. Frederick T. Steen, pastor, united the couple in marriage at 4:00 o'clock.

The couple's attendants were, Miss Marie Matson, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Miss Alice Matson, sister of the bride, bridesmaid. The two best men were Robert and Anthony Laurich, brothers of the groom.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Charles Matson, carried out the old tradition of wearing something old, something new, something, borrowed and something blue. She wore a white satin floor length gown with a sweetheart neckline and a finger tip veil, with a crown of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of red roses. The maid of honor wore a yellow floor length gown with a sweetheart neckline, and fitted waist, with full skirt. She wore a wide brimmed hat with streamers down the back and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses with baby mums and gladioli. The bridesmaid wore a similiar dress of pale blue, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses with baby mums, and gladiolis.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Matson wore a powder blue street length dress with fuchsia accessories. Mrs. Kosher wore a yellow street length dress.

After the ceremony, a six o'clock wedding dinner for 30 guests was served at the Beach Inn. The table was decorated with a three layer wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Place cards, candles and flowers decorated the table. The color scheme was worked out in blue and yellow. A reception and dance in honor of the young couple was held Saturday evening, at the K. of C. Hall for friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurich left on a wedding trip to Mackinac Island for a week. For her going away outfit, the bride chose a three piece beige suit with black accessories. The couple will make their home at 308 W. Onota street.

Both the bride and bridegroom, are graduates of the 1942 class of Mather High School. Before her marriage, the bride was employed for two years as hostess for Tom Breneman's "Breakfast in Hollywood" radio program. The groom served four years in the Army, and was discharged in January 1946. He is now employed at the Atlas Plywood Co.

Crime And Insurance Rates Neck And Neck

By GEORGE TUCKER

New York—(AP)—The crime picture, recorded with seismographic fidelity by insurance underwriters, presented this situation to Joe Policy Holder, average American, today:

Kill-and-run drivers are nearing the record pace of 1941 and auto insurance rates are running neck and neck with them.

Deviltry, normal breakage, and strikes have driven plateglass insurance rates 20 percent higher from coast to coast.

A 13 percent rise in crime since January 1, which, according to the FBI, represents the sharpest increase since 1930, has resulted in higher residence and outside theft policy rates in 33 states and the District of Columbia, with new revisions being processed for other states.

Life insurance rates are between 10 and 15 percent higher than in 1942.

Fire insurance rates have declined, but greatly increased values in real estate have imposed burdens of heavier coverage.

Here is the break-down:

(1) Bodily injury and property damage auto rates are back to the all-time high of 1941 following a reduction of nearly 40 percent in some instances during the gas rationing period.

According to spokesman for the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, increases in accidents are on their way to a record peak. Most accidents occur in heavily congested areas but the big smashups usually occur on open highways.

Consequently highest rates are in the metropolitan areas where traffic is heaviest. A striking exception is Montana, which has the highest rates in the nation.

Rates for an A-1 car policy in Montana on bodily injury, for instance, are $63 a year, as against only $48.50 for the same policy in New York City.

"Montana juries are tough on everybody except pedestrians, so the rates have to be high," one spokesman said.

The rate in the adjoining state of Nevada is only $20.

Certain sections of Ohio enjoy an $8 rate, lowest in the nation.

(2) Plateglass rates show an average increase of 20 percent since August 5. The rates are fixed on a straight replacement basis and vary widely in different sections of the country.

(3) A rising tide of night and day burglaries is directly responsible for a 10 to 15 percent increase in residence and outside theft insurance rates which went into effect from Coast to Coast recently, according to L. A. Sawyre, chief of the burglary division, National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters said.

The new rates reflect FBI reports which showed an 18.2 percent increase in night burglaries over a year ago in 285 cities of better than 25,000 population. Day burglaries rose 14.1.

Thefts of $50 in money or more increased 20.8 percent, the FBI said.

Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. of Chicago reported an increase of 58 percent in burglary attempts in 1945 against certified burglar alarm installations.

As a consequence of this and other factors policies covering residence theft which formerly were written for $18 per year for the first $1000 now cost $21. Other policies have increased from $21.75 to $25.50.

(4) Collision rates which show a 50 percent rise over 1944 depend entirely on the driver, underwriters believe. Reckless driving, high cost of replacement material, and the predominance of old automobiles on the roads have contributed to soaring accident totals. There is no chance of rates decreasing until accidents decline. With 306 persons suffering violent deaths over the Labor Day weekend due to traffic accidents, the trend is still upwards, underwriters say.

(5) Joe Policy Holder, average American, is paying 10 to 15 percent more for life insurance than before 1942, but crime played no part in this rate increase, a spokesman for the Metropolitan Life said.

"Large companies and some smaller ones began increasing rates in 1942 due to lower interest rates and, in some instances, because of war casualties," he said.

(6) Fire rates have declined but real estate owners are paying more for protection because of increased property values, according to a representative of the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization.

State Needs Pine Tree Seed; Bonus Offered For Cones

Lansing—Driving to reestablish production at the state's pine nursery, now seriously depleted because seeding was suspended in wartime, the conservation department's forestry division is offering a substantial bonus for collection of red and white pine cones.

The forestry division is particularly anxious to harvest the current good crop of white pine cones in the upper peninsula, a crop that must be harvested before the end of September. Five cents a pound will be paid enterprising boys and other woods residents who bring the cones in good condition to district foresters at nine northern peninsula collection points, and northern lower Michigan district foresters are in the market also. Some 1,500 bushels of while pine cones will be bought, if they can be obtained.

Ten cents a pound will be paid for red pine cones, which are more difficult to obtain because the seed crop is more widely scattered.

Cones collected should be delivered promptly and kept from heating (and so spoiling or opening) by being spread out, rather than piled in heaps. No attempt should be made to remove the seed.

Cone buyers in the upper peninsula include district foresters John Byelich and Glenn Schaap at Gwinn, Clarence Limpert at Menominee, Carlton Hollister at Shingleton, Carl Makel at Manistique, Bernard McTiver at Newberry.

"SEEING-EYE" CANE DEVISED

Trees And Other Things In Blind Man's Path Can Be Heard

Washington, (SS.)—A blind man, using a seeing-eye optical cane, may soon be as familiar a sight on crowded city sidewalks as the uncertain tapping of a blind man's stick or the gentle tugging of a seeing-eye dog.

An experimental sensory aid for the blind that uses a beam of light to accurately detect the distance and direction of all obstacles within 20 feet is being perfected by the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories, Bradley Beach, N. J. It can not be called radar, but it is like radar in which visible light is used instead of short radio waves.

The size of a loaf of bread, a nine-pound case carried in one hand is connected by a short wire to a single earphone. Trees, people, steps and other obstacles in the path of the blind user are heard, instead of seen, as coded "dots" and "dashes."

In scanning his surroundings, the blind person turns the case slowly from side to side so that the beam of light projected from the front of the case can reflect any obstacle it meets. The reflected beam of light is changed by a photo-electric cell into coded tone signals in the blind user's earphone.

With a little practice a person could easily determine the exact distance, to within one foot, of obstacles on a city street or in a room strewn with furniture. His sense of hearing allows him to learn to recognize the code signals. While a reflection from an object 11 feet distant produces a tone signal of one "dash," and a reflection from eight feet distant produces a signal of two "dots," a reflection from an object 10 feet distant produces a strong "dash" and two weaker "dots," and a reflection from nine feet produces a weak "dash" and two stronger "dots." The time of travel of the reflected light determines the sound code.

Although the Signal Corps is already producing a few test models for continued experiments, optical canes for the blind cannot be produced commercially until the present aparatus is perfected.

As yet, the device would be of little help to a blind person in crossing streets, since a speeding vehicle would not be detected until it was within 20 feet of him. Before the seeing-eye device is introduced to the public, it will be made lighter and equipped to detect small obstacles, such as narrow posts and hanging wires.

The problem of filtering out signals from sunlight and ordinary electric light used for illumination has been solved by making the optical cane sensitive only to pulsed light, and then pulsing the beam of light emitted by the case to that exact frequency.

Research is continuing under the direction of Lawrence Cranberg, a civilian Army physicist, who designed the first model.

Weddell Aviation Is Sold At Sault

Sault Ste. Marie—Sale of the interests of the Weddell Aviation company in the Sault Ste. Marie airport operation to Volney Lutz and Merlin Cook was announced here.

Mr. Lutz, an instructor, and Mr. Cook, a veteran who served with the Coast Guard during the war, will operate their own service at the airport.

A. C. McKeown will continue as mechanic for Lutz and Cook.

Mr. Lutz, who has bought a home on Spruce street and who has 2,800 flying hours to his credit, will be president of the company, to be known as the Soo Aviation company, and have active charge of management. During the war he was instructor of Army fliers at East Lansing. Mr. Cook will assist him.

COAL SHIP IS STILL GROUNDED

Ferry Was Able To Maneuver To Dock

The Robert J. Paisley, the coal ship grounded in the Manistique harbor, still remains in the same position that it was in when its prow struck ground near the Girvin Coal docks Friday morning. In its present position the huge ship is nearly astride of the harbor.

What really happened has not as yet been fully determined and will probably not be known until the diver, being called to the scene, makes the investigation. It is known, however, that the ship struck some submerged object as water in large quantities has been coming into the ship from the port bow, and the craft has begun to list.

It is expected that the ship will be afloat again today. A lighter was due to arrive this morning onto which enough of the cargo can be transferred and the coal ship lightened enough to permit its being maneuvered to the side of the dock.

Although seriously cramped for space in which to maneuver to its position at the dock, the Ann Arbor ferry was able to enter, unload and take on cargo Saturday morning. The ship was one of the smaller ones of the company and was able by a narrow squeeze, to make the routine half turn and back up to the dock. The company, it is understood, will send a larger ship today and attempt to dock regardless of whether or not the disabled ship has been moved.

Major Bowling League To Be Formed Here

The biggest bowling season in Manistique's history appears to be in the offing says Russell Brault in commenting on the forming of teams for the season.

Eighteen teams have already been formed, fourteen of which are regular teams and the others are major league teams and prospects look good for several more, he adds.

The "major league" which disbanded during the war, is made up of bowlers who maintain a higher score than the average run of bowlers.

The Brault alley leagues meet Tuesday evening to elect officers and formulate rules for the season.

SCHOOL BUDGET $18,000 HIGHER

Increase In Teachers' Salaries Cause For Heavier Spending

The annual school budget for the 1946-47 school year will be $18,000 higher than last year, a report of a recent meeting of the Manistique board of education reveals.

The budget for the fiscal year was set at $138,659 and will be presented for approval by the city council at its meeting Monday evening.

This year's increase is due largely to salary increases amounting to $14,900, an increase of $1,000 in operating expenses, $1,000 for building and grounds and the hiring of another teacher.

Expenditures last year went about $5,000 over the fixed budget.

The budget as prepared for submission to the council follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Salaries | $103,880.00 |
| Repairs to buildings and upkeep of grounds | 3,750.00 |
| Operating expenses and supplies | 9,943.00 |
| Educational expenses and supplies | 6,125.00 |
| Census, publicity, school election, commencement and general miscellaneous expense | 961.00 |

Menominee Hit By Wind Storm

Menominee was plunged into a 4-hour blackout between 7:30 and 11:30 p. m. Thursday when a 73-mile-an-hour gale left uprooted trees and broken electric wires in its wake after lashing the city for nearly an hour.

The gale roared in from the southwest and fanned the city with hot blasts that sent the mercury up from 6 to 8 degrees. Most serious damage was uprooting of a tree at Somerville avenue and Carpenter street, sending it crashing down on most of the feeder lines of the M. & M. Light & Traction company. Nearly all of the city's electric light service was put out of commission.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, with the Rev. William M. Harvey, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, officiating.

The fireplace in the Herbert living room before which they stood for the ceremony was banked with cedar boughs and gladioli in deep fall tones and on the mantle were eight-pronged candelabra holding tall white tapers. Fall flowers were arranged about the room and the stairway, down which the bride walked with her father, was wound with pine and cedar boughs.

PINE CONES ARE VALUABLE

Good Prices Offered For Cones Of White Or Red Pine

White pine and red pine trees have a market value in other respects than just the lumber they contain, says Carl Makel, head forester of the newly created state forestry district made up of Southern Schoolcraft and Delta counties.

Pine cones, at this time of the year before they bust open, are valuable. The forestry department is willing to pay five cents per pound for white pine cones and 10 cents per pound for cones of the red pine. These trees have been bearing fairly heavily in this area this year, says Mr. Makel and young people, particularly those living in wooded areas should be able to profit handsomely in the harvest.

Ripe white pine cones are yellowish green with brown scale tips and ripe red pine cones are deep purple with brown scale tips. The cones should be delivered promptly after picking and should be kept in a cool place. Cones with open scales are of no value as the seeds have already dropped from them.

The forestry department is especially anxious to get these seeds this fall in order to insure a plentiful supply of nursery stock next year. Seeding of trees was suspended during the war and the conservation department is making a serious effort to make up for lost time.

"A good indication of where good cones may be found are the small seedling trees found at the base of a big tree. Such a big tree is a producer," says Mr. Makel. "And considering the price that is being paid for seed, owners should consider its value as a seed producer before converting it into saw logs."

Those with cones to sell should bring them in evenings to the conservation equipment building at Main and Pearl. Cones will also be purchased in this area at conservation offices at Newberry and Shingleton.

Welcome Again To Manistique—

Perhaps little boys who have been on the loose all summer are not thrilled at seeing teachers of Manistique schools back again with us, but they are the only possible exceptions. The rest of us are very glad to welcome to our city those fine men and women to whom we entrust the education of our children. We wish for them a successful season and a happy stay in Manistique.

Personally we wish to state that we are at their service ready to comply with their cleaning, dyeing and pressing needs, assuring promptness and efficiency born of many years experience.

Rich Marooned On Bay Of Admiralty Island

BY PHIL RICH

Pack Creek, Alaska,—Here we are marooned on a bay of Admiralty island. The plane tried to reach us last night but could not get through. We thought the weather too tough and were satisfied to stay on.

It had been raining all day . . . a misty rain at first and then it poured down. We just hoped our lenses fast enough to catch some of the antics of 11 bear that came out to perform today. One old mother bear must have been giving lessons to a cub. We glimpsed the cub in the background but it never came into the open. The mother came out on the run, dove in, grabbed a fish and walked majestically back into the brush. Next time she came out slowly, watched and listened and then in a rush grabbed a fish . . she was a sure fire killer, and never missed.

So'easter Blows Up

Anyhow the plane was supposed to come and didn't. We did not have much grub as we thought we'd be back in Juneau for supper. But when we got back and built a fire, the wind whipped up stronger and stronger—a good old So'easter. We cut our rations down a bit but managed to get enough for all and still have some left . . . not much . . . but enough for breakfast.

It was about 50 degrees out there in that wind so we moved our bed which had been on the beach under the spruce limbs and made up on hemlock boughs and moss. About 20 feet back we found a nice soft spot and made a new bed with boughs and more moss. It's a strange thing how dry the moss is under some of these giant trees and we were as snug as a "bug in a rug." It rained most of the night but those thick trees with the heavy moss let little moisture through and only the outside of our bags were damp in the morning. There were no bugs and we did not need a tent, although we had one along. Only a few no-see-ums came around and fortunately they go to bed at night and never pester you after dark.

Well we managed with scrambled eggs for supper, some cold meat, rye bread, mint jelly, an orange and coffee. But this was nothing like the banquet we spread the noon before when we had some nice smoked ham, etc., or the night before when we feasted on lamb chops.

Anyhow one doesn't worry too much about food up here as there were plenty of mallards on the river and we saw some at 20 feet; lots of fish for the taking; grouse in the woods and we had salt, vegetable shortening; two rifles—a .22 and a .30-06. We scouted the food situation —just in case — and it looked good. Sometimes the weather "closes in" and you stay a week.

Eagle Trails Midlanders

One peculiar thing happened just before dark: We had walked up the beach about a mile to the mouth of Pack Creek. Eagles, raven and ducks were everywhere together with two kinds of gulls. Eagles alarmed by our presence flew about making their squeaking call—like an ungreased wheel. One of them flew above us on the way back. It was a sort of game. This chap was curious. We'd stop and he'd hover over us. We'd go ahead and he'd follow, planing in the strong wind. At the point where we turned at right angles we said: "Let's see if this eagle will follow us home." We turned the point abruptly to our camp. The eagle turned as if by signal. You'd think he was being directed by a traffic cop. He came right to camp, still uttering that wierd whistle-tweet of his and after staying for a few minutes and having made his inspection, he flew away.

Dean suggested we make up a pool on the time the plane would arrive, so we did it at four bits. Dean Williams took 11 a. m.; Reardon Nehil 10 and I took 2:30 p. m. At 10:28 the plane made it and Reardon won. We were back in town about noon with one stop at a cannery. The ceiling was still plenty low but these bush pilots are rated the best in the world and never take long chances unless forced to by necessity.

Dr. Diamond Plans New Building Here

Dr. John A. Diamond, local physician, yesterday announced that he plans erection of a new residence and office as soon as it is possible.

He has sold his present home at 805 Wisconsin avenue, where he has maintained offices on the second floor for many years, to Edward Johnson, Detroit, formerly of Gladstone.

He will continue his practice at the same address until the contemplated structure is erected, having leased the first floor and second-floor offices.

Plans for the new building, in which living quarters and office are to be all on one floor, are now being drawn by an outstate architect, it was stated.

Just when the building can be erected is indefinite, but construction will be started as soon as materials and labor become available, Dr. Diamond said.

Gladstone, Rock Cars Damaged In Minor Mishap Here

Cars driven by R. B. Kiisknien, of Rock, and B. H. Batley, 1010 Michigan avenue, Gladstone, were slightly damaged in a collision Friday afternoon near the intersection of Stephenson and Third avenue north.

Police said the Rock man was driving north on Stephenson and was about to turn west off Stephenson without signalling, when he struck the Batley car, which was also going north on Stephenson.

Buildings At Camp Cooks Are Inspected

Three members of the Gladstone City commission this week visited the old CCC camp at Camp Cooks to inspect buildings on the site, several of which are available from the U. S. Forest Service for use here for Scout or recreation purposes.

Consideration is now being given to moving the structures to Gladstone for use by Scouts and other groups.

Viewing the structures were Commissioners Walter Lied, Paul VerHamme and Albert Buckman.

VERNON STILL TOPS WILLIAMS

Washington Fans Pulling for Lefthanded Star

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Washington, D. C. — (NEA).— Boston Red Sox may have the American League pennant practically cinched, but Washington baseball fans are more excited over another race right now—the American League batting championship.

The Senators' Mickey Vernon is loping along out in front of Ted Williams, has been setting the pace, as a matter of fact, for The Kid, all season.

"I don't savvy you baseball writers," complained Manager Ossie Bluege, as he put down a newspaper loaded with pictures of The Eye and his amazing batting. "Don't you guys ever read the batting averages? Who's leading the league right now? James Barton Vernon, in case you don't know. For a guy that's only second, the Splendid Splinter, Terrible Ted or whatever you want to call him is getting more publicity than a world's fair fan dancer. Why don't you say something about Vernon? Let the fans know about him."

O. K., Ossie, we will.

James Barton Vernon, 6-2, 170 pounds, was born in Marcus Hook, Pa., 28 years ago, bats and throws left-handed. He began playing baseball when he was a kid, got his start in the South Atlantic League in 1938.

There his all around play attracted attention of scouts and Vernon went to the Eastern League in 1939 and the same year earned a trial with Washington. He was sent to Jersey City in the International for the 1940 season, finished the year with the Senators. He's been first-basing for them ever since, except for his two-year interim in the Navy.

In the Pacific Vernon was fortunate enough to get in about 60 games with such players as Peewee Reese, Johnny Mize, Phil Rizzuto and several other star major leaguers.

Honorably discharged at the end of last season, Vernon had no trouble getting his old job back with the Senators and from this year's opening has been leading the field in hitting.

Never a .300 hitter before, it didn't take the home fans long to realize that Mickey Vernon had found a new batting eye.

Vernon explains his improvement: "I was always a pull hitter, but this year I decided to hit the ball where is was pitched and have had great results. Instead of trying for long hits I'm satisfied with singles."

Vernon has also developed into a problem to opposing outfielders due to his newfound ability to "hit 'em where they ain't," a la Wee Willie Keeler.

Mickey got quite a kick out of playing in the All-Star game, hopes to play in many more. He has been the bright light on an otherwise drab outfit that might have proven a threat if Vernon had received any batting assistance.

Vernon is not cocky about his batting lead. He has great admiration for Ted Williams, thinks the latter is a wonderful hitter.

"Ted Williams earns all the encomiums that are coming his way," says Mickey, "and I'd have to have a much greater lead over him before I'd begin to think of myself as the A. L. batting champion this year. My mother always used to say, 'Don't count your chickens before they're hatched,' and her advice always was the best."

Even if Mickey Vernon doesn't wind up with the American League batting title, he's giving Washington fans something to crow about right now.

Gerry Priddy and Buddy Lewis hit four-baggers for the visitors.

Higbe's One-Hitter Helps Dodgers Take New York, 4 and 1

Brooklyn, Sept. 7 (AP) — Kirby Higbe turned in a magnificent one-hitter against the New York Giants as the Brooklyn pennant contenders opened a 14-game home stand with a 4-1 victory to cut the St. Louis Cardinals National league lead to two games. A capacity crowd of 31,117 watched the game.

Ernie Lombardi spoiled Higbe's chance for a no-hitter in the second inning with his 11th home run of the season and his third in as many games. The drive was a liner that stayed inside the left field line by two feet.

The victory was Higbe's 15th against five setbacks. He fanned nine batters and walked three.

TIGERS TROUNCE WHITE SOX, 10-4

Chicago Chases Benton In Seventh; Caster Saves Victory

Detroit, Sept. 7 (AP)—Exploding 16 hits, five of them two-baggers, the Detroit Tigers slapped the Chicago White Sox 10 to 4 today to run their current winning streak to four games.

Scoreless for three innings, chiefly because of sluggish base-running, the Tigers bunched five hits off Orval Grove in the fourth to score four times and stayed comfortably ahead thereafter.

Joe Kuhel's fourth homer of the year accounted for the first Chisox run in the fourth and Chicago chased Al Benton with a three-run rally in the seventh, but George Caster pitched adequate relief ball to insure Benton's eighth win.

Roy Cullenbine, with three doubles, led the Tiger attack which included three hits each by George Kell, Eddie Lake and Birdie Tebbetts.

A crowd of 16,631, running Detroit's season attendance to within 166 of the 1,400,000 mark, saw the Tigers power across as many as nine runs for the third straight day.

Lake's double was wasted in the first inning, as were singles by Tebbetts and Lake in the third but Detroit poured it on Grove in the fourth.

Twin Bill Sunday

Doc Cramer singled to center to start it and Hank Greenberg walked. After Dick Wakefield forced Greenberg at second Cullenbine doubled over third base to knock in the run that offset Kuhel's homer. Skeeter Webb was purposely passed to fill the bases and Tebbetts punched a single to short to score Wakefield. Benton then singled to left, scoring Cullenbine and Webb, and when Don Kolloway bobbled Lake's bouncer the bases were full.

Kell's drive toward short hit Benton, who was automatically out, and Cramer lifted a fly to end the inning.

Cullenbine's second double and Webb's single made it 5-1 in the fifth and the Tigers chased Grove by scoring twice more in the sixth.

Chicago's three-run rally in the seventh made it 7-4 but Detroit counted again in the seventh and twice in the eighth off Al Hollingsworth to clinch it.

Pickups: The victory was Detroit's eighth in nine games with the White Sox here this season . . . Hal Newhouser and Virgil Trucks were the nominees to pitch against Ed Lopat and Frank Papish in Sunday's twin bill, last meeting between the Sox and Tigers this year . . . Eddie Mayo, beaming he "felt like a million" after an operation to correct a back injury, was in the Tiger dugout but is not expected to be back in uniform the rest of the year, unless to pinch-hit . . . Chicago's first inning double play was the 159th of the season for the White Sox . . . Kuhel's homer was only the 35th of the year for his club . . . After Sunday's doubleheader with the Sox, the Tigers go back to Flint to replay their rained-out exhibition game Monday before returning to battle the league-leading Boston Red Sox Tuesday and Wednesday. .

Boudreau Is Popular With Cleveland Fans

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

New York, (NEA)—When young Bill Veeck and Company moved into Cleveland, it was a cinch that there would be some changes made.

The baseball-writing boys immediately started writing out Lou Boudreau as manager, had Jimmy Dykes moving in. The popular story had Boudreau going to the Yankees in exchange for Joe Gordon and perhaps another one or two.

Even President Veeck's explanation that he might take a franchise for Boudreau failed to silence the reports.

Boudreau's contract still has another year to run and his chances of remaining as the Indians' chief improve daily. Encouraged by an owner who went out and obtained the best replacements available, Boudreau has the Tribe playing the heads-up ball demanded by Veeck.

Boudreau almost equals Bob Feller in popularity on Lake Erie's shore. The Illinois alumnus is perhaps the finest infielder in the game. He led the league in batting one year, is always among the leaders.

Under Boudreau's leadership the Cleveland home attendance skyrocketed to 955,103 in 51 games, the Yankees playing to a seasonal record of 75,596 on Sunday.

Owners just don't fire managers like that.

Those who contend Boudreau would not remain under another manager, however, are dead wrong. This would be particularly true if an older man were appointed. Boudreau is a good soldier, and will do anything the front office considers best for the club. He knows no other way but to give it all he has.

If he chooses to change managers, which now is extremely doubtful, all Bill Veeck has to do to retain plenty of shortstop is pay Lou Boudreau what he believes he is worth as such.

Ted Williams concentrates even to his breathing. The Red Socker takes a deep breath, exhales and stands perfectly relaxed. While he goes through a lot of gyrations while winding up, as it were, The Kid is perfectly still with the pitch.

Old Casey Stengel, whose feet have trod practically every ball park in the land, is now content managing the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League.

Stengel is dueling another ex-National League outfielder, Lefty O'Doul of San Francisco, for the league leadership, the lead swinging back and forth.

Oakland fans, who have not feasted on a pennant in 18 years, reckon Stengel is the mightiest man they've ever seen. He can practically write his own ticket, yet refuses to sign for more than one year.

"I don't know when they'll tire of me," says Stengel, "and I don't want to be around where I am not wanted."

When—and if—Oakland grows weary of Casey Stenfel, there'll be a lot of places waiting for him.

ATHLETICS NIP BOSTON, 4 TO 2

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 7 (AP)—Jesse Flores held the American league pennant bound Boston Red Sox to five hits today, one of them Ted Williams' 35th home run of the season in the ninth inning as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated Boston, 4 to 2 and handed Dave Ferriss his first defeat after 12 straight victories.

A home run by Oscar Grimes in the fifth—his first of the season with Flores on base gave the Mackmen their margin of victory.

Ferriss who pitched his 25th complete game lost his last previous game when Phil Marchildon and the A's whipped him 3-2 on July 4. It was Flores' sixth straight triumph.

Philadelphia scored one in the first on Barney McCosky's double and Buddy Rosar's single, added two on Grimes' home run and picked up its final tally in the seventh on Elmer Valo's walk, a bunt by Grimes and an outfield fly.

Boston's first run came in the seventh. Pesky walked, advanced on Dom DiMaggio's safe roller and scored on an outfield fly.

Chicago, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds waited until the eleventh inning today before applying a knockout punch to the Chicago Cubs with four runs to assure a 9-5 victory.

With one out in the second overtime round, Paul Erickson issued successive walks to Lonnie Frey and Dain Clay. Benny Zientara doubled to left, scoring both runners. Harry Gumpert, the Reds' second and winning pitcher, followed with a single, scoring Zientara.

Bob Scheffing's fourth hit, a single, scored Phil Cavarretta with the Cubs' fifth run in the tenth after Cincinnati had gained a 5-4 lead in its half.

Reeves Of Detroit Sets New Record As Pistol Wizard

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 7. (AP)—Harry Reeves of the Detroit police department won his third consecutive national pistol championship over this National Guard range yesterday, and took his place among the greatest handgun marksmen in history.

Inspector Marvin Driver, coach of the Detroit team, declared as Reeves was announced as the winner:

"There is the greatest pistolshot that ever lived. You can have your 'Billy the Kids' and all the rest of the great gunmen—for not one of them could come close to Harry."

Reeves, with the 22, 38 and 45 caliber pistols, hung up a record of 2,588 of 2,700, highest mark ever attained in the national title race. No one was close as he wrapped up the laurels for the third straight time.

Slipping Indians Bow To Brownies

Cleveland, Sept. 7 (AP)—Belting three Cleveland pitchers for nine hits, the St. Louis Browns handed the slipping Tribesmen their fourth straight defeat, 4 to 1, today behind the tight, eight hit hurling of Sam Zoldak and Ellis Kinder.

The Tribe gained a 1-0 lead in the opening frame on Felix Mackiewicz' single and Pat Seerey's double for their second run in four games, but the Browns knotted the count in the second inning and wrapped up the verdict with a pair of markers in the fourth.

The Browns' winning rally in the fourth resulted from a pair of walks issued by losing hurler Allie Reynolds, plus a long double by Joe Schultz.

Walton, England (AP)—British beekeepers import American bees by clipper plane to step up production.

J. W. Harker of this Yorkshire hamlet, who received 200, said, "In five weeks, while the English bee is dodging around putting together a mere 20 pounds of clover honey, the American bees mass-produce 40 pounds."

American queen bees, he added, mother 1,600 insects in a short time, but they wear themselves out in three years, while English queen bees take it easy and live for six.

BIRDS, HUNTERS AND WINE DRINKERS

I wish I weren't so blamed old! Old wines, they say, are best but not being much of a wine drinker, I wouldn't know. The other day I was looking at a list of the best wines of European vintages. That same day there was an item from a scientist telling how he and the rest of the scientists were going to beat nature.

All this—my age, wine, scientists and nature made me think of our game birds and our hunters. Such thinking is foolish, probably the result of old age. Yet in looking over that wine list I noticed that in 15 years, the growers of fine grapes made fine wines nine years but failed to make good wine the other six years.

Good grapes, rich in sugar content, depend greatly upon a sort of fungus which natures grows upon the skin after they are ripe. Without this mold, or fungus, the wine crop of that year is a failure. Can the scientist govern the sun, the wind, the rain or the humidity of a continent?

* * *

If I were younger, much younger, I would like to work with a large group of up-and-coming game managers. I'd like to learn whether a dry year meant that all the partridge, sharptail and prairie chicken became infected.

* * *

Some authorities, such as H. B. C. Pollard, believe that a wet summer causes a fungus to grow on the body of the millions of tiny worms, parasites, which birds, rabbits and other small game pick up in the woods. Some of the worms grow on the leaves, some on the grass, some on shrubs and still others in the earth.

Dampness causes the mold to form on them and kill them before they can multiply in the millions. Our game birds and game animals while feeding, then do not swallow the eggs, which hatch in their food canals, or the parasites themselves.

I'd like to find out if a dry spring and early summer is the cause of a large crop of young pheasants, grouse and ducklings. I'd like to learn whether much humidity, dampness in late summer and fall might not be the reason we have such large crops of game.

* * *

Might it not be that the combination of early dryness plus late dampness gives us just the game crop the hunters like to see? Like the grape growers, we cannot point with confidence to soil, the dampness and other factors which go to make a bad year or a good year.

* * *

Then, if I were younger, I'd like to call in that young scientist who said, "We can beat nature." I'd like to say, "Brother, turn on the sun just so many hours a day through May and June, but in late July and August give our lake states 60 per cent humidity, or better. Do that and all of we hunters will bless you."

MY PLAN FOR BAD BOYS

If I had the power, I would not put any "bad boy" on probation. Probation makes them sneer at the law and wonder how their parents and officers of the law can be so easy. We have seen enough boys turn to murder; other criminal offenses through too much probation and too many jail sentences.

I believe there is no better method than putting a bad boy to work out in the woods at his first offense. I base my opinion upon my experience with several thousand CCC boys over a period of many years.

Our lakes need mapping, our streams and lakes need good holes and cover. Our land needs protection from erosion. Our waste land needs trees, not millions of them but billions in our lake states. We need thousands of large and small openings for game which only controlled burning can give us.

* * *

Our trees and marshes need fire protection and every fish, game and research department needs hundreds of workers. I could go on with a dozen other phases of boys' work in the outdoors and defy you to name one of the projects which young men from 12 years to 21 cannot do.

* * *

I know, for I have seen them do it. In the CCC's they did a grand job, where they were well directed, in every phase of outdoor work. Those boys were supposed to be "on relief." Let me tell you that they relieved many a grownup in fighting fires, planting trees, making maps, fixing up and sounding the lakes, building roads and telephone lines.

They built fire towers, ranger stations and handled caterpillars and bulldozers as well as men twice their age —better in many cases. They plowed, they planted game food, thinned out undesirable timber and cut many millions of feet for good timber.

For years, I had 1,200 of those young men in my fish and game work. In crews of 75 to 50, under a competent foreman and camp superintendent, they did wonderful work. I would get around to each crew every 30 to 45 days or so, training the new crews as the others went back to civil life.

* * *

Whether it was 10 below zero or 100, those CCC lads were wonderful. I was so proud of them that I could cry as I watched them do so much with so little. Hundreds of thousands of these CCC boys did wonders for their country in the last war. Look over their records, if you don't believe it.

* * *

Why not build just one outdoor work camp for bad boys? Let them have fine men, not narrow, biased dumbbells to supervise them. See that their supervisors are thinkers, men of action, kindly but firm. Men who will show our bad boys how foolish they were in their first mistake and train their bodies and minds the way they should go.

Good food, warm clothes and a comfortable camp with good reading and hours not too hard will turn out fine lads, from cooks to foresters. The boys will pay their way, I am sure, and fine men will result. The incorrigible can be kept in jail but think of the thousands of dollars saved in jail or prison costs, to say nothing of the possible future expense to society.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Unless some extremely rapid developments occur within the next week, there will not be an Upper Peninsula independent football league this fall. A Gogebic range team, composed of players from Ironwood, Bessemer and Wakefield, is being formed and the Inland Marines of Manistique are reported to be ready to go. Iron Mountain may field a team this fall and Jim Calery reports from Sault Ste. Marie that he is interested in developing an outfit in that city. But that's as far as it goes. Marquette tried to create interest in organizing an independent team there but failed. There has been no activity here concerning independent football.

* * *

Next fall there almost certainly will be a general reawakening of enthusiasm for independent football and the probability of organizing an Upper Peninsula league definitely exists for 1947. The success of independent football depends to a considerable extent upon the development of night football. There is too much competition with duck hunting, bird hunting and the like for Sunday afternoon football. Many cities, of course, already have lighting installations available and next year there will be others properly equipped for night football.

* * *

While there probably will not be an independent football league in the Upper Peninsula this fall, there will be an independent basketball league operating in the U. P. next winter. Initial plans are already being formulated and a hot circuit of at least eight teams will be formed. Escanaba will have a team in that loop and other cities to be represented probably will include Iron Mountain, Stambaugh, Marquette, Crystal Falls, perhaps Ishpeming or Negaunee or both. There has been no allocation of franchises yet because the league is still in the dream stage but it will become reality.

* * *

Eddie Olds of Ishpeming, former Northern Michigan college athlete, who started the football season this fall with the Green Bay Packers, has been released on option to the San Diego, Calif. pro team for further seasoning. The Bays have not given up on Olds but they have a working agreement with San Diego and have retained strings on the Ishpeming lad so that he can be recalled to Green Bay if, as and when. He may be back with the Packers next season.

Hit and Miss—Warren Huey, Spartan end, is one of the youngest athletes ever to win a major athletic award at Michigan State . . . He was a first stringer last fall at the age of 17. . . . Linotypers beware! . . . Messrs. Jankauskas, Jankiewicz and Polczynski will be in the Marquette University lineup this fall . . . And, alas, there isn't a Smith on the Hilltop squad. . . . Against schools now members of the Western Conference, Michigan has won 138 of 205 games played in football, losing 58 and tying eight.

Sensational Tennis Star, Tom Brown Jr. Has Fans Pop-Eyed

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Forest Hills, Sept. 8 (AP)—There no longer was any doubt tonight that a new and brilliant star had shown up in the world tennis firmament—not after 15,000 pop-eyed fans had watched that slamming ex-mortar gunner from San Francisco, Tom Brown, Jr., give Gardnar Mulloy of Miami an unmerciful 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 beating in the national semi-finals.

Capt. Walter Pate of the American Davis Cup team, marveling as the 23-year-old coast sensation took the second of his players over the hurdles in less than 24 hours, exploded "that boy is playing out-of-this-world tennis."

It was all of that. If anything, Brown, who is not even ranked in the first 10 nationally, flashed a more superlative all-around game today than he did yesterday in turning back the defending champion, Frankie Parker, in five sets.

More than a score of times during the even hour it took him to crush Mulloy he had the overflow crowd in the stadium standing and wildly cheering his rifle shots that clipped the lines and left Mulloy shaking his head helplessly.

Tomorrow the sweet swinger from the coast—by way of Europe's battlefields — meets the final test of his potential greatness in a five-set final against Jack Kramer, only surviving member of the Davis Cup team. If he sustains the tennis he has played the past two days he could be the new champion tomorrow night.

MATHERS LOSE TO NEWBERRY

Indians Take 18-6 Decision In Football Opener

Munising—Perfect football weather greeted the Mather and Newberry high elevens when they clashed in the first game of the season at Munising's playground field Saturday afternoon.

Newberry took the game with a hard earned 18 to 6 score. The game was evened up at the half mark with a 6-6 score when Bovan of the Mather boys pushed his team across the finish line for their first touchdown of the season. Mather high fought hard to hold Newberry to its three touchdowns.

Dausey went out with a sprained ankle just before the horn blew announcing half time, and Doucette went out with an arm injury a couple of minutes before that. Both boys went back into the game shortly after the second half started, however.

Cox of Munising suffered a broken collar bone late in the game.

Starting liueups were:

| Mather High | Pos. | Newberry |
|---|---|---|
| Reed | LE | Thibedeau |
| Kouri | LT | H. Carlson |
| Wapniek | LG | Anderson |
| Dausey | C | Peterson |
| Arsenault | RG | Edger |

| Sowa | RE | E. Johnson |
| Doucette | QB | Williams |
| Pelltier | LH | Furlong |
| Bovan | RH | Quinlan |
| Burley | FB | Gooseberry |

Newberry used two substitutes, sending Lemke in as right guard and Lavender as fullback.

Newberry plays Negaunee under the light at Negaunee next Friday night. Munising will travel to Marquette for a game with Graveraet high school next Saturday afternoon.

The preliminary game ended with a 0-0 score.

Officials for the game were: Al Rudness, Vance Hiney and Matt Vance, all of Negaunee.

Bob Feller Remaining Unspoiled By Success

This series was written by a country newspaper editor whose home town is near the Feller farm in Iowa. He has watched Bob Feller since he put on his first pair of spiked shoes. Scott Snyder is one of the few men of the community, however, who does not claim to have been in some way responsible for Fireball Feller's success.

* * *

By SCOTT SNYDER
NEA special Correspondent

Adel, Iowa—(NEA).—It was Cy Slapnicka, of the Cleveland Indians, who got Bobby Feller's name at the bottom of a contract, along with that of his father as guardian. There was a substantial bonus but nothing compared to the reported offerings of other big league representatives who woke up after it was too late. Bob was supposed to go to Fargo, N. D., in the Northern League, but never reported there because Slapnicka wanted him around where he could keep an eye on him.

Scott Synder

Feller finished junior year at the Van Meter high school and then reported at Cleveland where he pitched on a city league team when not being given a looking-over by the Indians. Since then, every reader of the sports pages of every newspaper in the country has become acquainted with the Boy Wonder.

They have been told how he went back to Cleveland after school was out the following spring when he passed his exams for entrance into the senior class; how the manager and other players watched him; how they helped him overcome some faults. They held their breath when Manager Steve O'Neill sent him to the mound in an exhibition game with the St. Louis Cardinals, hoping he wouldn't get too much of a beating in three innings. Nine of the tough National Leaguers faced him. Eight of them struck out. Reports drifting back home were to the effect that young Feller was peeved because they didn't let him finish—he was just getting warmed up.

Feller's first full game in the regular schedule came soon afterward. Starting against the St. Louis Browns he won his game, 4-1, and struck out 15. A couple of weeks later he beat Athletics and set an American League record by fanning 17 batters.

When Bob came back to Van Meter after the season, he found central Iowa waiting for him. A "Bob Feller Homecoming" celebration had been arranged, sponsored by the Community Club. Several thousand people were on hand to tell him they knew him when he wore diapers, that they had read all about him and that they would appreciate an autographed baseball. The home folks really admired him. He had been given enough publicity and adulation to spoil any youngster, but it affected him not. He was ready to do anything they wanted him to do within reason, provided he could get home in time to help with regular farm work. That fall he hopped the school bus regularly with the other farm youngsters and graduated with his class. He also helped to make the Van Meter high school basketball team one of the best in the circuit.

The Bob Feller Homecomings were an annual feature of community life in the town until the war came along. Not only did Bob take part in the ball games by pitching half the time for each team, but he brought Rollie Hemsley, Hal Trosky and others of his teammates with him. And it cost the Community Club members nothing. The gate money went to carry out numerous community projects.

Bob Feller likes to hunt, and drive a good automobile and do some flying, but his main interest in life is baseball. In that game he has already gone to town, and nothing but a bad accident can keep him from going to town for many years hence.

It is with pride that folks back home point out that Bob didn't take the easy route when he enlisted in the Navy. He could have undoubtedly secured a job in some camp but he enlisted to fight. Among his souvenirs are some eight battle stars and five campaign ribbons. He earned them and the rating of Chief Specialist in charge of an anti-aircraft crew with the officers and men on the battleship Alabama.

It is with pride also that Iowans are watching his 1946 baseball record. As were many others, they were worried lest the three years spent in the Navy might have taken something from him as a pitcher. They are pulling hard for him to beat Rube Waddell's strikeout record and for him to win 30 games. Their radios are tuned in every time he is slated to pitch. They hold their breath when he walks a man or allows a hit and they get it back when he registers another strikeout. They like him because he has made good in the most exacting competition imaginable. They like him because out of his first earnings he built his parents one of the finest farm homes in the community.

But they like him most because nothing has spoiled him.

EMERALDS BOW TO ISHPEMING

Lose To Big Hematites By Score Of 28 To 6

Manistique—Meeting what is generally conceded to be the toughest competition in this year's schedule of games, the Manistique Warriors went down to defeat 28 to 6 against the rangy Hematites from Ishpeming in the first game of the season, on the local grid Saturday.

Favored with weight and number of experienced players, Coach Al Thomas' men were able, with telling frequency to break out into the open for long gains which brought them into enemy territory many times during the afternoon.

Starring conspicuously for Ishpeming were Jack Swanson and Phil Johnson, who carried the ball most of the time and accounted for most of their team's 28 points.

Pat Shaw did most of the rampaging for Manistique, not only gaining lots of ground but smearing many an Ishpeming rush that seemed destined for long gains. Alan Schuster and Mueller also cooperated very effectively.

The first score of the game came about five minutes after the kickoff with Ishpeming marching down the field, making downs without serious trouble. The kick for extra point went wild and the score was 6 to 0. Another touchdown was scored shortly afterward.

Manistique got over its bewilderment and throughout the rest of the first half played Ishpeming on even terms. Toward the close of the second quarter, while playing deep in enemy territory, a pass from center went bad and automatically became a touchback, netting Ishpeming two more points.

Manistique's only score came at the beginning of the third quarter when in three plays after kickoff, Schuster carried the ball over the line. In one of these plays a pass from Shaw to Mueller netted 45 yards. Point after touchdown failed.

Ishpeming's remaining scores came in the third quarter when the morale of the Emerald's was particularly low.
